Hot debate warms up state rep race

by Larz F. Neilson

Charges and counter-charges flew on Monday night in a debate between incumbent State Rep. Jim Miceli and challenger Kevin Sowyrda at the Elks Hall in Tewksbury.The debate was sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

Charges of gutter politics were tossed back and forth, with Sowyrda charging that Miceli was part of the Democratic leadership that has left the state in fiscal chaos. Miceli hit on Sowyrda for having held a state job and for writing columns for the Town Crier without telling people he would be running for office.

Miceli opened the debate with a summary of his term of office, telling how he has held office hours every month, held annual town meetings and distributed questionnaires to constituents. He told of the capital outlay items he has secured for the two towns, including traffic lights, a cleanup of Long Pond and planned improvements for Tewksbury Center.

In his opening statement, Sowyrda said the fundamental issue was whether people have the right to hold the assistant majority leader accountable for what happens on Beacon Hill. He commended those who vote against taxes, but said that leadership was needed to propose tax cuts and reduction of fees.

"Leadership demands the courage to stand against the 'tax and spend' Democratic machine," he said.

Miceli called the opening statement fraudulent, pointing to some of the cuts he has supported. "These cliches that are being thrown around tonight don't pertain to me," said the incumbent.

Asked for his top priority, Sowyrda launched into a slam at Miceli for his connection in Tewksbury.

"My top priority? Local ethics in Tewksbury!" said Sowyrda. He charged that Miceli's supporters there may be awaiting subpoenas. He called for a local ethics bill.

Miceli responded that he has the support of most local officials. He also said the way to put forth that kind of legislation would be to amend the existing state ethics law to include local officials.

Asked about Massachusetts' greatest attributes, Sowyrda said the greatest attribute was the people, but that the government has lost touch. "People are not making it in Massachusetts," he said.

Miceli called Massachusetts a beautiful area, and said his voting record was conducive to people making it in Massachusetts, and for people staying in Massachusetts.

"You're campaigning against the wrong individual when you talk about these issues," he said.

Both candidates came out in favor of the CLT petition. Miceli pointed out that half the budget is mandatory. He suggested that cuts could be made in the General Court and the DPW. He said that he had joined together with 20 other legislators to put together a package of cuts, many of which had been implemented.

Sowyrda took advantage of the CLT question to pull out some cuts that Miceli had voted against, such as a cut of $497,000 from the state treasurer's office, and $750,000 from the Dept. of Revenue.

Health care proved to be a topic where Sowyrda's usual conservative position proved to be more liberal than Miceli's.

Miceli had stated his opposition to the state's universal health care bill, adopted two years ago. He said he voted against it. "This makes no sense," he said. "There's not enough money to fund it. There's no handle on what it will cost."

Sowyrda agreed that the present bill was not good, but supported the concept of expanded health care coverage, calling it a service as basic as water. He conceded that the state will not be in any shape to fund it within the next five to ten years.

On the subject of traffic, Miceli called for a corridor study of Route 38. He said there was money for the new bridge in Wilmington Center, but that being realistic, you could not say there will be any other money on hand for the next few years.

Sowyrda attacked Miceli for his failure to support the plan for Wilmington Center known as Alternative Three, which had been overwhelming approved by the voters. He said that the town needed a rep who would work with the selectmen.

In the open question portion of the debate, Miceli called Sowyrda hypocritical for talking cuts, "and yet you had a job working for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and held that job until a month or so ago." He charged that Sowyrda had received the job by patronage.

"With all due respect," Sowyrda replied, " you are a liar."

"You're a liar!" shot back Miceli.

Sowyrda said that this was the typical gutter campaign that Miceli had run against the late Fred Cain, and against Rocco DePasquale.

He said he had qualified for the job with the Division of Local Services and had to take a certification exam.

Miceli's criticism of Sowyrda for writing columns about the rep while planning to run for the seat brought the reply, "Which of my columns would you like to discuss?" Sowyrda tossed out a column on the bill for George Nawn's pension qualification and the subject of nephew Michael McCoy, who broke the nose of a fellow selectman.

Miceli responded that the Nawn bill was a home rule petition, and said the fight had nothing to do with him.

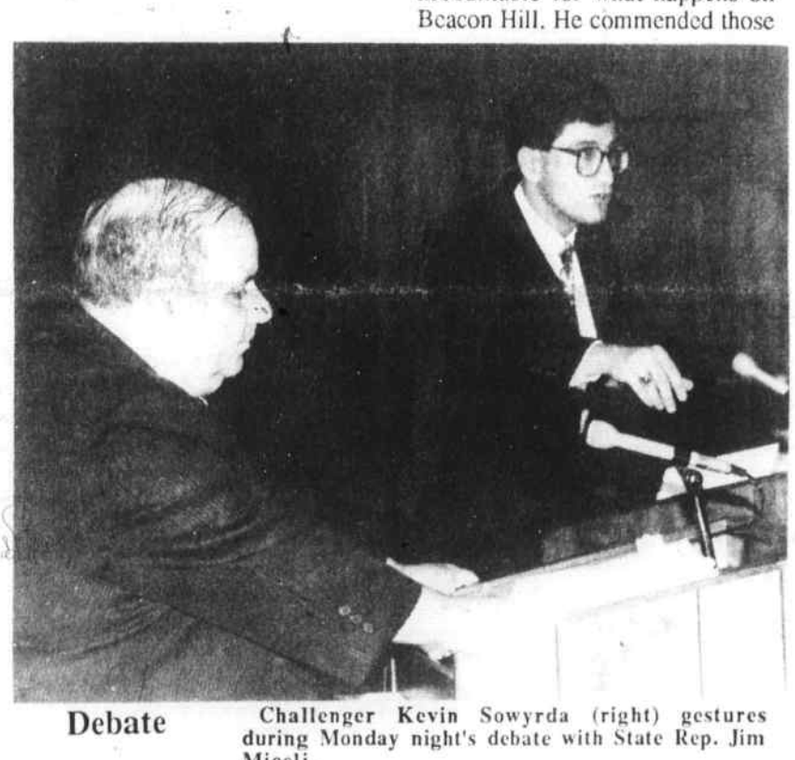

At this point, the debate format had become confused, and Miceli was granted a second question. Sowyrda lost a turn.

Miceli asked where Sowyrda would get the money to do the things he talked about. Sowyrda turned again to the list of cuts that Miceli had voted against, suggesting cutting the Governor's Council, and $1.9 million from the zoos, both of which Miceli had opposed. He also listed a cap on salaries for the presidents and chancellors of universities; a ten percent cut in overtime, and cuts in state cars.

Miceli then charged that Sowyrda had done nothing while on the Shawsheen Tech board.

"When I was elected to that committee, there was absolute budget chaos," Sowyrda responded. He pointed to the bringing on of a new superintendent-director, the elimination of the smoking area, the publication of a student handbook and the formulation of a tough drug policy, which was commended by an official of the Justice Department as being one of the toughest in the Northeast.

"And another thing," said Sowyrda. "I won't vote for the Voke Aid bill and then not fund it so those kids are cheated."

Complaints issued against both Cain and McCoy

A judge in Woburn District Court issued criminal complaints last Friday against both former selectman Michael McCoy and Selectman Robert Cain following a preliminary hearing. Each is charged with assault and battery on the other in an incident that took place in the Wilmington Town Hall on the night of November 13, 1989.

At that time, police were called to the Town Hall about 11:30 p.m. to find Cain in a pool of blood, badly beaten.

Each man is charging that the other started the fight.

Following the fight, both men went to court seeking complaints against each other. A magistrate issued the complaint against McCoy but denied McCoy's complaint against Cain.

McCoy appealed the denial of the complaint.

Then in Lowell District Court last month, Cain's complaint against McCoy was thrown out on the basis that the magistrate had not allowed a stenographer for McCoy.

Friday's hearing was on Cain's re-application for a complaint against McCoy, and on McCoy's appeal of the failure to issue the complaint against Cain. The hearing took place before Judge Leah Sprague of Newton.

McCoy's attorney presented a photograph not previously submitted showing a bruise on McCoy's face. Selectman Chester Bruce testified that the photo represented how he saw McCoy on the day after the fight.

McCoy also testified, claiming that as he tried to leave the Town Hall after the fight had started, Cain jumped on his back and hit him in the face from behind.

Cain had been represented in the case by Atty. Tom Troy, who has retired following a heart attack. A Middlesex County assistant district attorney was on hand, but Cain did not have an attorney personally representing him.

Following the issuance of the complaint against him, Cain said that at a probable cause hearing, testimony is taken at face value. If an allegation is made, a complaint is issued, he said.

Radios wanted

A collection of radios and tapes for American servicemen in the Middle East is being made at the Shawsheen School in Wilmington. Coordinator Mike Thomas is urging people to donate working radios, cassette decks and tapes. The radios will provide some entertainment for service personnel on duty in the desert in Saudi Arabia.

Any donations may be dropped off at the Shawsheen School office.

Court refuses to allow dog's return

A court magistrate at Woburn Court last week uphold a decision by the Wilmington Board of Health banning a female rottweiler from town.The dog is owned by Lisa Nott. Both Nott's dog and that of her boyfriend Jeff Dindo were involved in an attack on neighbor Ed Boucher. The two owners originally agreed to take their dogs out of town, then took the board to court over the issue.

According to Wilmington Health Director Greg Erickson, testimony was provided by himself, Dog Officer Ellen Davis, Nott, Dindo, Boucher, and three of his neighbors. Dindo's dog was returned to its trainer in New Hampshire. It is still uncertain where Nott's dog will go since her application to bring the dog to Norwell was denied by officials in that town.

Cat trapping set for weekend

Cat owners in the Lawrence Street area of Wilmington are being cautioned to keep their cats indoors for the next few days while the Animal Rescue League traps cats in the neighborhood. Animal Control Officer Ellen Davis said that the trapping will be on Friday and Saturday. It had been previously but incorrectly announced for last Friday and Saturday.

Believe it or not, the Red Sox won

Monday night's debate between State Rep Jim Miceli and challenger Kevin Sowyrda drew about 50 people to the Elks Hall in Tewksbury.

It was broadcast on Tuesday night in Wilmington. Seeking people's reaction to the debate, the Town Crier did a quick survey. Did Miceli or Sowyrda win?

Strange as it may seem, the Red Sox seem to have won.

All right, the Red Sox lost to the ChiSox. We know that.

But because the Sox were on NESN, most people with cable were apparently watching the game, not the debate. This is the theory of Sports Editor Rick Cooke.

They couldn't win at the plate, but they won the debate.

We picked Lawrence Street in Wilmington for our poll, with three persons making calls. Out of 50 homes called, and 47 answering, we could only find one person who watched the debate. She thought Sowyrda had intelligent answers, and said she was going to vote against all incumbents.

Tech board reduces assessments to towns

On a recommendation by Shawsheen Tech Supt./Director Charles Lyons, the regional school committee voted last month to reduce existing assessments to all member towns by $129,782. This action reduces the Tech's overall assessment by 2.2 percent, from $6,807,920 to $6,678,138 for fiscal 1991.

The vote results in a $20,243 savings to Wilmington and a $30,815 savings to Tewksbury. In addition, the committee voted to cut the school's approved FY '91 budget of $10,398,137 by $181,349 and absorb state aid cuts to the Tech themselves.

In a September 26 letter to all member towns, committeemen stated this is the second year in a row the Tech has reduced its assessment to the municipalities. The committee was able to make the reductions because of initiatives taken last year which include a freeze on purchase orders and a transfer of monies to offset "astronomical" increases in health insurance costs.

New DARE officer

Wilmington's Officer Jim White is the new DARE officer in the Wilmington schools. He replaces Bob Spencer, who received a promotion to sergeant. The DARE program teaches fifth-graders to resist peer pressure and temptation to try drugs. It uses skits and question and answer periods to deliver its message.

Celebration of the Arts rehearsals start Oct. 11

Rehearsals for the Celebration of the Arts begin Thursday, October 11 at 7 p.m. in the high school music room. All parents, students, and alumni of Wilmington High's Performing and Fine Arts Department are encouraged to attend rehearsals and donate their time and talent to raise money for the renovating of the Barrows Cultural Center (high school auditorium).

The Celebration of the Arts - a week long drama, music, and arts festival under the over-all direction of Arts Director Lorraine Kalil - will be held next spring. All proceeds will help fund needed improvements to the auditorium.

Camp Fire members enjoy harbor cruise

A trip to George's Island kicked off the year for Tewksbury Camp Fire. Eight leaders and their groups met at Long Wharf for a cruise on Boston Harbor, docking at George's Island. While on George's Island the group toured Fort Warren, completed in 1860 and used to house Confederate prisoners during the Civil War including Andrew Stevens, vice president of the Confederacy.

Highlights of the tour included a story told in a darkened tunnel of "TheLady in Black" who was hung on charges of spying and returns to this day to haunt the fort. At the conclusion of the tour the girls marched to the tune of The Battle Hymn of the Republic singing "John Brown's Body." Union soldiers at Fort Warren composed this song. While on a visit President Abraham Lincoln became so impressed with how it inspired the soldiers that he commissioned someone to write different lyrics, thus creating the Battle Hymn of the Republic.

The groups were then on their own to explore the fort and the island - crawling through the dungeon corridor, walking the beach, climbing the rocks and sitting in the sun.

Ballot question could cost $1.4m

by Bill Conlon

If ballot Question 3 is approved in November, Tewksbury could lose up to $1.4 million in funding, according to a report from the Mass. Department of Revenue.

The referendum question, put on the ballot by the tax-fighting group Citizens for Limited Taxation, will roll back fees and taxes to the 1988 level if approved by voters.

Town Manager David Cressman on Tuesday said Tewksbury has one of the "leanest" town budgets in the area, with over 91 percent of all non-discretionary spending used to provide for police, fire, DPW and school services to the town.

In comparison, Cressman offered the percentages of non-fixed town spending on police, fire, DPW and school service for other area towns, with Chelmsford spending 90.1 percent of discretionary funds on those services; Methuen using 89.0 percent of it's discretionary budget; Dracut's spending 88 percent; the town of Wilmington spending 80 percent and Andover at 76 percent.

But the tax rollback referendum, if approved, would hurt the towns unevenly, Cressman said, reading from the revenue report.

Tewksbury would stand to lose an estimated $1.4 million of Question 3 passes, he said, and Dracut would lose $1.2 million; Billerica would suffer at $2.1 million; Wilmington would give up roughly $800,000 and Andover would be deprived of only $600,000.

"The (Question 3) cuts are going to be felt heaviest in communities like Tewksbury, Dracut and Methuen," Cressman said.

Selectmen came just short of an outright criticism of the CLT ballot question, and there could be a legal issue raised if a public meeting is used to speak out against any ballot question.

Emergency master keys needed for housing units

by Arlene Surprenant

An incident at Deming Way early Tuesday morning led members of the Deming Way Tenant's Association and the Wilmington Housing Authority to seek to prevent similar problems in the future.

According to association president Jo Wakefield, an emergency alarm went off in the apartment of one tenant around 5 a.m. Though fire and police responded to the call, they apparently were not able to enter the apartment because no one had the master key. The tenant finally came to the door to let the officers in, Wakefield said, adding though, "that man could have been dying in there."

Board members agreed it was fortunate there was no serious emergency. They noted, however, that both the fire and police departments have access to a master key in case of an emergency. Chairman Michael Donovan suggested members contact the town manager and fire and police chiefs to make sure officers are able to access apartments quickly in the future.

"This is our first test... obviously we failed it," Donovan said.

It was pointed out that only a few of the older elderly units have emergency alarms that work properly. Executive Director Ella Belmore said because of the state's fiscal constraints, the Executive Office of Communities and Development is neither funding the repair of faulty alarms nor installing them in new units. Some discussion ensued on a proposal by Donovan to test alarms on a monthly basis. The chairman said, by maintaining the alarms, those residents fortunate enough to have them would know they can rely on them in case of an emergency.

Police issue warning on 'scams'

Due to a noticeable increase in fraudulent activity directed toward the elderly, the Police Department has drawn up the following information to help make you aware of some of the "scams" that have resulted in the loss of thousands of dollars to innocent victims.

The most popular activity involves what the Police Department refers to as "Gypsy" paving crews. These people "roam" throughout the east coast, and have been in Wilmington many times in the past. Their method is to solicit paving jobs from the elderly, who are told that "we have some extra hottop on the truck from a job that we are doing." Usually they promise a price a few hundred dollars, but in fact end up charging up to several thousand dollars. They go so far as to threaten the people if they don't pay, and are willing to take the elderly to their bank so that they can make withdrawals. Payments by check are always cashed within minutes of being signed.

These "gypsy" crews also are known to enter the homes of their victims under the premise that they are looking for a drink of water. Many victims have found cash and jewelry missing from their bedrooms.

Another scam involves two or three men in a full size pickup truck who will pose as utility, cable, or other contractors, and tell the homeowner that they have to do some emergency repairs. Others claim to be repairing chimneys or lightning rods. They frequently take the homeowner out of his house, while another worker enters the house and steals valuables. The theft is usually not detected for several hours.

Another popular "flim-flam" involves the old saying, "If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is." This usually involves a subject calling a victim, and telling him that he works for a trucking company, a storage company or a large retailer, and that he has an "overstock" of television, camcorders, VCRs or other expensive items. The victim is quoted prices that are literally, too good to be true. He is told that if he buys in sufficient quantity, he can take advantage of these prices by meeting another person at the loading dock at a local retailer. After a large quantity of cash is exchanged, the victim is to told to pull their vehicle to the loading dock, where naturaliy, nobody ever delivers the goods. It is common that victims lose up to $10,000 in this type of scam.

In the event you are approached at your home by anybody looking to give you a great deal, keep in mind a few of these tips.

1. Most legitimate businessmen carry "business cards." Ask for one, and study it. Check to see that they are local.
2. Most legitimate businesses do not go soliciting for work with the intent of starting the job "now."
3. Do not allow a contractor to take you out of the house, away from the doors where somebody else might sneak in.
4. If you have any suspicion or concern about the contractor, find them to be forceful or manipulative, contact the Police Department at 658-3331.

Remember, no legitimate businessman would ever turn down work just because you inquired of the Police Department if they were legitimate.

All of these ploys have been used in Wilmington within the past year and are certain to occur again unless residents are diligent and wary of what the results might be.

It's YOUR Money

MORE FOR YOUR 401 (k)?

The upper limit on employee contributions to a 401 (k) retirement plan is $7,989 per year, but few well-paid employees have been permitted to put in that much. The reason: a government rule that employers may not give relatively more in a 401 (k) plan to higher-paid employees than to those lower-paid; the percentage of income contributed by the highly paid should be about the same as that contributed by the lower paid. A company could get around this by setting up multiple plans.

New Internal Revenue Service rules have eased the rule. Now employees can be divided into separate groups within the same plan - without anyone but the I.R.S. knowing that different groups exist - in order to test for nondiscrimination. Companies will probably be able to set up their own criteria: salaried vs hourly employees, for example.

Almost all higher paid plan participants are expected to benefit from the easier limits on contributions, a benefit that will multiply taxes over the years.

Housing authority to pursue affordable home

by Arlene Surprenant

Members of the Wilmington Housing Authority said Tuesday they are prepared to go to court to take possession of a home on Ohio Street if that's what it takes to see that the developers follow an appeals board decision.

The controversial home on lot 24 was built by Peter DeGennaro and Dick Staurt of Ohio Street Realty Trust. The Wilmington Board of Appeals allowed the developers to increase density in their subdivision if the home was sold to the housing authority for $65,000 for an affordable house. The sale was delayed when the state Executive Office of Communities and Development told the authority to withhold $5,000 for unfinished work on the property. The developers then said they did not want to do business with the board.

Chairman Michael Donovan said he had recently met with representatives from the boards of selectmen and appeals, and the town manager in hopes of resolving the issue. Donovan said Tuesday there was a consensus that the town wants the developers to honor their commitment. He said his board was willing to work with the builders. Selectman Chester Bruce added the home is one of four that should be turned over to the authority for less than market value because of the appeals board decision.

An offer to purchase the Ohio Street home was sent to DeGennaro and Stuart about two weeks ago. If no reply is received by the two week deadline, said Donovan, then legal steps would be taken to obtain the home.

Senior citizen balks at $160 pet deposit

by Arlene Surprenant

A new regulation requiring a deposit of $160 or a month's rent to keep a pet in state elderly housing units led one Deming Way tenant to register a complaint.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Wilmington Housing Authority, Lillian Coffill told board members nothing was said about her cat or the deposit when she recently signed a lease for her apartment. She said it was only after she moved in that administrators informed her of the requirement and the cost, all this despite the fact that she wrote on her application that she had a pet which had been allowed to reside with her in another public housing project.

"It's not easy for senior citizens, not a bit. I think it's ridiculous we're not allowed to have a pet. I'm living on a fixed income. I can't afford all this extra money," Coffill told the board.

Executive Director Ella Belmore explained for awhile the state didn't allow any pets in public housing. That was changed about six months ago when the new regulation became effective, she said. Belmore said the regulation is an addendum to the lease and, in the course of conversation with Coffill, no mention was made of her cat.

Board member Dan Gillis said he was not familiar with the regulation. He urged fellow members to waive the requirement in this case since Coffill was never informed from the beginning. Tenants in attendance noted that could set a precedent since other pet owners have already paid the deposit.

Chairman Michael Donovan called the whole issue a misunderstanding. He agreed with fellow member Elaine Hachey that the regulation should be brought to the attention of prospective tenants before they sign the lease to avoid similar problems in the future.

Episcopalians plan addition to chapel

by Arlene Surprenant

St. Elizabeth's Episcopal Church on Forest Street will soon be undergoing renovations as a new addition is added to the small chapel. Upon completion, the new wing will house five Sunday School classrooms.

According to Peter Briggs, recording secretary for the vestry, the building has outgrown the present Sunday School population. Currently, 13 children under three years old and 22 youngsters in the upper grades meet in one basement room.

The addition is being paid for with a $40,000 United Thank Offering Grant. The grant is expected to cover the cost of the architectural shell and insulation. The shell will be erected before winter. Church members plan to put up the interior sheetrock partitions themselves. Briggs said the addition will be built with supports so a second story can be put in at a later date.

Bill Frey, head of the church building committee, came up with the plan for the wing, said Briggs. Two contractors have submitted bids to do the work.

Health board rejects state's condom proposal

by Arlene Surprenant

A letter asking local boards of health to encourage restaurants and other public establishments to install condom vending machines was met with anger on the part of Wilmington health officials at their meeting Monday night.

The letter, dated September 4, was signed by Philip Johnston, secretary of Human Services, and David Mulligan, commissioner of the Department of Public Health. The letter asked the board to support "Project Prevention," the Commonwealth's campaign to prevent the spread of Aids. Johnston and Mulligan said, as the local health authority, board members can play "a pivotal role" in promoting the campaign by urging health and human service agencies, bars, restaurants, hairdressers, and other establishments to install the machines to help men and women at risk from Aids.

"That's not our job," stated Chairman Jim Ficociello, who noted the state shouldn't take this approach on such an important issue. Ficociello suggested instead the state use the resources at its disposal to create a statewide policy and go directly to the businesses themselves. In addition, state officials could work toward educating children at an early age, the chairman said.

Health Director Greg Erickson said the request could be viewed as a conflict of interest since his board is both the licensing and inspecting authority for local restaurants. Erickson said also, with condoms readily available in local pharmacies, he didn't see "a pressing need" to have them dispensed in restaurants as well.

Cider making

Tuesday was cider-pressing day in the kindergarten class at the Wildwood School. Joanne Gustin brought in a cider press for her son's class, and several of the children including Dennis DeCenso had a chance to turn the handle. Above, Michael Hiltz, Thomas Irwin and Dennis DeCenso clink their paper cups together before drinking the cider.

Opinion

by Paul H. Sullivan

As an override looms on the horizon in Tewksbury, Selectman Charles Coppola tried to institute some much needed fiscal leadership. He proposed that all department heads' salaries by rolled back to last year's levels. While this may not be fair, it is just the type of leadership that the townspeople are looking for, before they are willing to go to the polls and raise their own taxes.

To show that he is willing to share the burden, Coppola and Selectman Lou Carciofi supported a rollback of the pay for the selectmen. It should be noted that the Tewksbury Board of Selectmen is by far the highest paid board of selectmen in the region, maybe the country.

But true to form, Chairman of the Board William Hurton and his minions voted to table both of these actions. This is not surprising, given the fact that while our school children face impending cuts in education, and as a result their future, the majority of the board of selectmen has spent most of its efforts securing political and financial security for their cronies and their spouses. Their lack of action is reminiscent of the old adage, "While Nero fiddled, Rome burned."

The majority of the selectmen have been content to throw the responsibility on the townspeople. This uncourageous way of dealing with the problems of the town is the very cause of why we have these problems in the first place.

The town manager form of government was supposed to deal with a lot of these crony problems that the town faces. If not in truth, then in perception. But, alas, no such luck. The crony trail just keeps rolling along. If you have any doubt, just check the layoff notices that went out on Monday. Mrs. Theresa Gillette, who has seniority over the wife of the chairman of the finance committee got one, while the wife of the chairman of the fincom finds herself exempt from layoffs.

The town manager form of government was supposed to produce some creative budget practices. Well, don't hold your breath.

I would suggest that combined with the Coppola cuts, the selectmen institute maximum classification on the industrial property of the town, if and only if the townspeople vote to override Prop 2 1/2

What this will do is to shift about two/thirds of the increase in taxes onto the business community, which is not desirable but may be our only hope to convince the taxpayer that it is time to loosen the reins of Proposition 2 1/2.

The present plan being set forth by the majority of the board of selectmen, led by Chairman Bill Hurton is a sham. First let the override go down the tubes. After that the town will have a town meeting to reduce the budget. If that does not occur, the town will then institute a user fee for garbage collection.

Well, in case you don't already know this, the whole thing is a sham. Hurton and the boys known damn well, based on history, that the townspeople will not override the 2 1/2 levy under present conditions. Further, they know that the town meeting is dominated by town employees and school parents who will not let our services and education be ravaged.

This leaves only one alternative. A garbage collection fee. Well guess who doesn't pay a garbage collection fee based on the Hurton Plan? The businesses of Tewksbury, since they already have private collection. This eliminates the industrial and business community from sharing in the tax burden increase. Second, the condominiums in town won't share in the burden either since they also have private collection.

Now under my plan, which would be a two year plan, we would increase the tax rate on business and industry,which is allowed by law if the override passes, thus raising the average tax bill by about $25. The following year we would institute trash fee with actual preparation and planning.

With this plan, over a two year period, the town could spread the override impact over all segments of the tax base.

The basic results would be that the homeowner would feel that the town was trying to solve this crisis creatively. Of course, this plan will go nowhere unless Bill Hurton and the boys get off their duffs and do something to protect our school system.

Who am I kidding? The beat continues for the Pals. Their adage should be, "While Tewksbury sank, we protected our own."

letters to the editor

Dear Larz:

On September 26, I watched on TV the repeat of the last school committee meeting. It made me feel uncomfortable watching their bickering. You would think they would be more cooperative and understanding during these "lean" times. instead they quarrel and insult, which doesn't accomplish anything.

In regard to the lunch scheduling at the high school, my son is affected and there has been no problem. Both the teachers and the office have cooperated and worked out time he can have lunch.

The business with dictating of school fundraisers is totally ridiculous. With budget problems the way they are, I feel (along with many other parents) that the schools should be encouraged to help themselves, which will also help school morale and pride. Any problems with fundraisers should be handled on an individual basis. Don't punish the groups who are doing a good job. A lot of praise and thanks should be given to the school staffs, students and parents who continuously sacrifice their time.

This school committee should start thinking positively not negatively or all the good people who do so much for our children will lose their enthusiasm and spirit. Then what will they do?

Linda Whitebone, Parent

Dear Larz:

If the people of Wilmington did not see or hear enough at the 9/19 School Committee meeting to make sure they rid themselves of Shirley Callan come next April election, then something is very wrong. Mrs. Callan has escalated the word "rude" to new heights. Her rudeness toward, blatant disrespect of and obvious dislike of Mr. Fay was sickening to watch. Why the other six board members did not stand up and walk out when she motioned to adjourn while Mr. Fay was still speaking is beyond me. Shame, and I mean shame, on Mrs. Kane and Mrs. Paglia for voting to not let Mr. Fay speak after being cut off by Mrs. Callan. But then again, how utterly predictable. Mr. Caira hit the nail on the head when he said that most board votes consistently go four-three (When Mrs. Paglia is not in her abstaining mood) or three-three, and he could tell you who would vote which way every time.

Mrs. Callan has obviously taken on the role of supreme autocratic ruler, and before things get any worse (could they??) I'd like to ask if other Wilmington parents feel as I do: that Mrs. Callan should be publicly reprimanded by her board for her inexcusable behavior, and that she be removed as chairperson. Wednesday's meeting was a disgrace. But Mrs. Callan sunk to a new low when she stated, for the cameras, that several parents had called her to complain about not getting return phone calls from Mr. Fay regarding an alleged high school lunch problem. She did contact Mr. Fay privately about this, choosing instead to apprise him of it on camera. Mr.Fay was put in an extremely unfair position. Upon asking for names to substantiate the complaints, he was told Mrs. Callan would never reveal them, even privately. Mr. Fay said he always returned a parent's phone call and that anyone accusing him otherwise was lying. He also told Mrs. Callan his character and dignity would not be questioned in a public forum. Mrs. Callan said he had insulted her nameless parents by calling them liars. At a later point when Mr. Fay tries to defend some accusations by Mrs. Kane against Mr. Gillis and the athletic department, Mrs. Callan tells him she will not allow him to "insult" her board members. What is really going on here?

The answer is obvious. Mrs. Callan will stop at nothing to humiliate and discredit Mr. Fay and certain other school officials. She is not "for" my children or anyone else's. She is "for" advancing her own personal smear campaigns and using her seat on the school committee to do it. To use some of the adjectives Mrs. Kane regularly uses in her constant attacks on Mr. Gillis, I find Mrs. Callan's behavior "appalling, horrendous, disgusting, offensive," and (this one's mine) unforgivable. By contrast, the class and dignity Mr. Fay continues to exhibit as he sits alongside Mrs. Callan at each meeting should be applauded by all Wilmington parents.

And to follow your lead, Mrs. Callan, I will now sign my letter anonymously and give you the same opportunity you gave Mr. Fay to defend himself against nameless accusers - NONE.

Dear God:

It has been a while since I last spoke to you, but ever since I converted over to agnosticism, I was afraid that I was talking only to myself and that if I wasn't careful, I was going to wind up in a booby-hatch.

It bothers me to see the integrity of the Congregational Church of Wilmington suffer as a result of some accommodating members who allowed Mark Haldane, also a member to advertise his campaign appeal in their newsletter. Now if that wasn't bad enough, Mr. Haldane was also allowed to tack up his political signs on the church's front lawn Election Day.

Lord, I have asked Mr. Haldane for a response, but he just won't give me one, even though when we tangled in a letters war, he gave me a wise-guy response to everything else I had to say, particularly that 100-100 explanation about taxes going to the homeless which he described as "confiscatory," but he refuses to say anything about this ecclesiastical matter. If Mr. Haldane won't answer my charge that the Congregational Church endorsed his campaign, how about someone else from the church, perhaps the minister or the deaconette. This episode leaves a bad taste in the mouth of many, I promise to be gentle and kind (he's lying) if anyone responds.

I am a novice of "truth" who would like to go from darkness and smog to enlightenment.

Dear secular humanist with an attitude, there are many stray sheep who call themselves "chosen" by me, religious and political alike.

I have been contemplating the possibility of writing another testament as it has been a while since my last one. I have more "truth" for humanity to catch up on, however, right now I'm up against the popularity of Stephen King so I might as well wait until he retires.

I can wait.

"A Worthy Opponent"

by Arlene Surprenant

State Representative James Miceli has himself an opponent worthy of the name. That opponent is Kevin Sowyrda -- vice-chairman of the Shawsheen Tech School Committee, President of the Wilmington Family Counseling Board of Directors, a Member of Citizens for Limited Taxation, and (gasp!) a Republican.

Both men are running for representative of the 20th Middlesex District in the November 6 election. Judging from Monday's no-holds-barred debate, it should be quite a race. Many viewers have commented that a negative tone was set Monday when the two men participated in the public debate sponsored by the Wilmington League of Women Voters. It's true both candidates came out swinging. It's equally true neither let a chance go by to go for the jugular. What some viewers missed, however, is the fact that each candidate had taken careful measure of the other prior to the televised event and was quite prepared for the challenging questions posed by the other. That in itself was refreshing and led to a lively verbal exchange.

Now the voters will have to decide which style they like best. Early on the incumbent, who is never at a loss for words, was forced on the defensive in defending his voting record and parrying the quick rhetoric thrusts of his opponent. Mr. Sowyrda had done his homework and was relentless in his attack, often waving a stack of bills that the incumbent voted against, for emphasis. In addition, Mr. Sowyrda outlined new measures he would undertake, like backing a local ethics bill and abolishing the Governor's Council to save funds.

Both candidates seem well matched and ready to go the distance. They have a month to go before you, the voter, make the final decision. To echo an old, appropriate phrase, the fight has only just begun.

letter to the editor

Dear Larz:

I would like to take this opportunity to make you aware of a courageous act on the behalf of a few Wilmington teenagers.

On Sunday morning at approximately two o'clock, a few of our youth were in a wooded area aside the Wilmington Town Hall. In the stillness of the night this courageous group, armed with pieces of pavement, logs and rocks as well as a large metal trash barrel, assaulted the Town Hall smashing out 12 windows.

This courageous group then slithered back into the wooded area and disappeared after venting their fury upon an undefended sleeping building. I am sure today, they are boasting to their mothers, fathers, brothers and sisters of their exploits. Enter your schools on Monday and greet all your friends with high fives for such a daring and dangerous altercation with an undefended and sleeping building. Your act should bring great pleasure to you and you are richly deserving of the title coward!

You obviously possess little integrity and lack self respect. Yes, I'm sure if you are apprehended your parents will defend you with "not my son, not my daughter." Parents should be meeting you at the door asking where you have been and why do you have an odor of alcohol on your breath?

Question 3 would cut 14-16 of school staff

by William Fay
Supt. of Schools

If you missed the Ellen O'Brien story in last Sunday's Boston Globe and you're at all interested in the future of education in Wilmington, you should get a copy and read it.

The story focuses on the current school year to date in Malden and how the impact of a three million dollar budget cut has devastated them. Considering Question 3's impact in hard dollars is rapidly becoming clear, I can easily see the Malden Scenario playing in Wilmington over the next several months and years, should it pass.

The figures are in from the Department of Revenue - Wilmington's cut for this fiscal year will be $790,044. Even if the School Committee is able to wrestle only a 50 percent hit out of the Town Manager, $400,000 means 14 to 16 staff members laid off December 6, 1990. Merry Christmas!

Just in case you've already recycled your Globe, note these changes in Malden.

Closed: All three middle schools, 750 seventh and eighth grades jammed into Malden High where: Special Needs students are crammed into former toilet space, and: 7th Grade Science Students study the earth in a room without windows, sinks, and as one student with "without air and water." Two hundred students pack a "motionless" physical education class. Study Hall held in an auditorium balcony, where students sit without lighting. Fifty teachers laid off and remaining staff morale at an all time low. Teachers now pay to park in a lot that was formerly free. (Why didn't we think of that, Mr. Gillis).

I'm sure I'll be accused of comparing apples and oranges. That may be, but the following facts are undeniable.

Wilmington's school population is growing. We have the largest kindergarten (266) enrollment in 10 years and a growth pattern in our primary grades.

Housing starts continue in Wilmington, particularly in the Shawsheen and Wildwood neighborhoods. Houses mean children. Most class sizes grades one through 12 are in the 25-30 range across the board, excepting Special Education classes or programs limited by safety.

The School Committee has cut everywhere possible (busses, supplies, materials, athletics, special education), including 26 staff positions in the current budget, in an attempt to make ends meet.

It's really too bad that Barbara Anderson, CLT, the High Tech Council and all that alleged intellectual horsepower just doesn't get it. They just don't understand that the only thing, the singular most important thing, that made Proposition 2 1/2 work, was declining enrollment in the schools. Crime didn't decline. Fires and hazardous waste spills didn't decline. Broken pavement and snowstorms didn't decline. and now that school enrollment has reversed the decline, where to now Barbara? I'd stay out of Malden if I were you!

Does Massachusetts need a state census?

by Denise De Guglielmo

As it gets closer to Election Day, November 6, voters are being alerted to the significance of a "yes" or "no" vote on the six ballot questions.

The first is a proposed amendment to the Constitution that will abolish the state census, which is used as the basis for determining electoral districts.

While most attention is focused on Question 3, which is sponsored by Citizens for Limited Taxation, Question 1 has been pushed to the sidelines.

Massachusetts is the only state that conducts its own census to reapportion legislative and councillor districts instead of relying on the federal census taken every 10 years.

Rep. John Businger wrote the argument in favor of this amendment in the "Information for Voters" booklet that was written to inform voters about the six ballot questions. In this booklet, published by the Office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, Businger wrote that the state can save money by relying on the federal census that is paid for by federal tax dollars. Since the 1985 state census cost the state about $6.5 million, this could be a step toward repairing the state's fiscal distress.

Rep. William Galvin wrote the argument against this amendment in the same booklet, stating that the abolition of the state census will deprive Massachusetts of its only independent tabulation of residents.

He also wrote that since the state census is administered by clerks who are more familiar with communities, they're more able to provide an accurate count. If inaccurate statistics result from the federal census, it could cost cities and towns more, especially if an error was made in the distribution of local aid.

The adoption of this amendment was approved by the General Court in joint sessions of the House of Representatives and the Senate on December 17, 1987 by a vote of 180 to 6, and on June 11, 1990 by a vote of 186 to 6.

A 'Yes' vote means abolish the state census.

A 'No' vote means keep it.

How many Civil War 'nuts' are there?

by Capt. Larz Neilson

The question can now be asked after the PBS (TV) program featuring the Civil War of last week. How many Civil War nuts are there in Tewksbury and Wilmington?

The publisher of the Town Crier pleads guilty. He became one during World War II, when he commanded a ship carrying U.S. soldiers to Europe.

It was the "Rebel" officers who started it. No "Yankees" ever raised the question.

Those Rebels would come up to where the captain happened to be and would start a conversation about the Civil War. "We're going to win this war, captain! We're going to do it the Stonewall Jackson way!"

When the writer returned to the US he bought every book he could, on the Civil War,and he was always primed with a good question about Stonewall or Robert E. Lee. Such a question could silence the Rebel officers.

The disappointing part of last week's Civil War program was that it showed what happened at the southern end of the Yankee line at Gettysburg and it showed Pickett's Charge, at the Center. But it showed nothing about the northern part of the line, where Confederate General George H. "Maryland" Stewart attacked, with a brigade, two Yankee regiments. It was a fight that lasted the better part of two days.

The Second Massachusetts and the 29th Pennsylvania held off Maryland Stewart and his brigade. The two regiments lost a lot of men doing it.

Company I of the Second Regiment had men from Wilmington. George Bailey, who lived on Chestnut Street was killed in action. Theodore S. Butters and James T. Emonds were wounded, and both subsequently died, after having submitted to the surgeon's knife. Emonds was a Billerica man, who had enlisted with Wilmington friends.

Enlistees from Wilmington in Company I included Thomas A. Bancroft, of West Street, John E. James, Elbridge G. Taylor, Thomas A Bailey, and John G. White. Simeon Jacquith was a Wilmington man who enlisted from Woburn, and Charles A. Nichols, also of Wilmington enlisted in Lawrence. Hiram Pearson of Tewksbury, married to a Wilmington girl, survived until he was wounded in Resaca, Georgia in 1864. There he died of wounds.

Elbridge A. Taylor was taken prisoner in the Shenandoah Valley by Stonewall Jackson. He died in 1864 in a Richmond prison.

John H. White lived in Wilmington Square, and was a brother of Mrs. Daniel Buzzell, wife of Wilmington's physician. He was a musician who, at the end of three years, while in Georgia, accepted his discharge from the army and moved to Philadelphia.

John E. James of Wilmington was apparently a baker in the Bond Bakeries. Born in Heresford, England, he too had been a prisoner of Stonewall Jackson in 1862, but was released.

Continental Cablevision raises money for zoo

Funds already raised by Continental Cablevision, and those it continues to raise through October, as part of its fall campaign to support Stone Zoo will go to the Boston Zoological Society, to be held by that non profit support group pending more definitive word on the future of Stone Zoo.

Whether or not Stone Zoo's closing is permanent or only temporary, funds raised by Continental will be used by the Boston Zoological Society to support the animal exhibits and educational programs of Metro-Parks Zoos, which also includes Franklin Park Zoo in Boston.

"Despite the state budget setback that apparently will lead to at least a temporary closing of Stone Zoo, Continental and The Discovery Channel plan to continue working with MetroParks Zoos and zoo campaign plans that will benefit our cable TV viewers and help raise awareness of wildlife and conservation issues among school children in all the communities we serve," said Len Tammaro, Continental Cablevision general manager.

Those plans include a regular monthly cable TV series produced in conjunction with the MetroParks Zoo education department; a feature length cable documentary called "A Day in the Life of a Zookeeper;" and a competition among elementary classes in seven area communities to create the best cable TV public service announcement with a conservation theme.

"We were saddened, but not surprised, to hear that Gov. Dukakis' most recent round of state budget cuts includes plans to close the Stone Zoo," Tammaro said. "We are hopeful that the closing will be only temporary, and that a legislative solution can be found to save this unique resource in our back yards.

"However," Tammaro continued, "we were prepared for this possibility, and have made arrangements with the Boston Zoological Society for it to hold the money we raise until the long term future of Stone Zoo is made clearer,. In any case, our new and existing cable customers who contributed to Continental's fall fundraising campaign can rest assured that their financial contribution will directly benefit zoo animals and education efforts in Massachusetts."

As part of its fall zoo campaign, Continental is contributing to the Boston Zoological Society the company's cable installation revenue, through special discount offers, from new subscribers and existing customers' service upgrades during October in Billerica, Burlington, Reading, Stoneham, Wilmington,Winchester and Woburn.

In fact, for the month of October, the heaviest period of new sports service subscriptions, both NESN and SportsChannel have joined Continental's zoo offer, with half of the $15 installation charge being donated by Continental to the Boston Zoological Society.

Continental already raised some $750 through a special Disney Channel offer on Stone Zoo Appreciation Day and, together with the Discovery Channel, another $520 that day from the raffle of stuffed animals, children's photos and sale of animal noses.

He served in the U.S. Navy during Korea and had been employed as a pipe fitter for the Carlysle Engineering Co. for 31 years. He had been a member of the Tewksbury/Wilmington Lodge of Elks No. 2070 for over 20 years.

Mr. Stumpf is survived by his wife Carol (McKay) his three sons Richard, Ronald and Robert all of Tewksbury; his three daughters, Mrs. Philip (Cheryl) Cuoco of Woburn, Mrs. Stephen (Corinne) McLaughlin of Raymond, N.H., and Mrs. Christopher (Lisa) Thomas of Essex and his three sisters, Constance M. Hennessey of Ashland, Mary "Jane" Ulrickson of Tewksbury and Elizabeth A. Martin of Tyngsboro. Five grandchildren and many nieces and nephews also survive.

His funeral was held from the W.S. Cavanaugh & Son Funeral Home, Wednesday morning at 9:00 followed by a funeral mass at St. Dorothy's Church. Interment took place in the family lot, Tewksbury Cemetery.

Jennie V. Brady

Mrs. Jennie V. Brady, 81 of Main Street, Tewksbury died Saturday, September 29, 1990 at the Northwood Nursing Home in Lowell following an extended illness.

She was born in Barre, February 9, 1909, the daughter of the late Salvatore and the late Pauline (Curti) Sdoia, and had lived in Tewksbury for the past 33 years. She was retired from Sylvania in Woburn and was a communicant of St. William's Church, a member of St. William's Sodality and the Greater Lowell League of Catholic Women.

Mrs. Brady is survived by her husband, Stephen F. Brady with whom she was to celebrate a 50 year wedding anniversary in February; one daughter, C. Christine Petrucci of Kensington, N.H.; one sister, Victoria (Sdoia) Brady; two grandchildren, Elaina and Paul Petrucci both of N.H. and many nieces and nephews.

She was also the sister of the late Eugene Sdoia and the late Lucia Spinelli.

A funeral mass was celebrated Monday, Oct. 1 in St. William's Church. Burial followed in St. Patrick's Cemetery, Lowell. Arrangements were through the Tewksbury Funeral Home.

Lisa Marie Polcaro

Lisa Marie (Purves) Polcaro, 26, of Watertown, died suddenly Saturday, September 29, 1990 at the Boston City Hospital after a brief illness.

Born in Malden, she was a Watertown resident for many years, having also lived in the Lawrence and Lowell area. She was the daughter of the late Walter N. Purves and is survived by her husband, Robert Polcaro; her children, Nichole Higgins of Watertown and Cassandra Polcaro of Lowell; her mother, Mrs. Brenda E. (Canole-Purves) Sullivan of Swampscott; her sisters and brothers, Brenda Lee Purves of Boston, Mrs. Kevin (Valerie) Avakian of Tewksbury, Mrs. Timothy (Christine) McHugh of Waltham; Walter Purves of Boston and James Spencer of Waltham and a niece, Ashley Avakian.

A mass of Christian burial will be celebrated in the Chapel of Saint Charles Borromeo Church, 51 Hall St., Waltham Thursday morning October 4 at 10. Interment will follow at Blue Hills Cemetery, Braintree. Expressions of sympathy may be made in her memory to the charity of your choice. Arrangements by the Brasco & Son Memorial, 773 Moody St., Waltham, Wayne F. Brasco funeral counselor.

Health center adds new doctors

Boosting the staff of the Regional Health Center in Wilmington, are three internists and one pediatrician, all of whom have joined the Health Center since it was acquired by Winchester Hospital this spring.

James Todd, M.D. practices general internal medicine and cardiology. A graduate of Western Reserve Medical School, he received his training in internal medicine at the University of Vermont Hospital Medical Center and at Boston City Hospital. His training in cardiology was undertaken at Brigham and Women's Hospital. Speaking of his decision to join the Regional Health Center, Dr. Todd said, "I considered several positions, but the Regional Health Center demonstrated the most caring attitude toward its patients that I encountered. The staff really knows and cares about the patients and their families.

Another recent staff member is Sharon Stotsky, M.D. who is board certified in internal medicine and rheumatology. She is a graduate of New York Medical College and received her hospital training at the Boston V.A. Hospital and Brown University Hospitals. Sharon Rubrake, M.D., who has worked in walk-in urgent care and community health for eight years is joining the primary care practice in internal medicine.

Sarah Andrew, M.D., a pediatrician who just completed her training at Massachusetts General Hospital, will be joining the pediatric practice in September.

These physicians join five other primary care physicians at the Regional Health Center in Wilmington, some of whom have practiced in the community for nearly a decade. They are: Suetta Tenney, M.D.,internal medicine, and pediatricians Yvette Yatchmink, M.D., Margery B. Schonfeld, M.D., John A. Myers, M.D. and David S. Salomon, M.D. Dr. Salomon has watched the pediatrics practice of the Health Center grow from one and a half to five doctors during the eight years he has been on the staff. "I came here to visit Dr. Myers one day in 1982 and just fell in love with the place," he recalls. "It was the type of practice I really wanted - a self contained center where patients can have all their needs met and we can refer them with confidence to specialists we know well in the same building. Our affiliation with Winchester Hospital will further help us meet the health needs of this community."

All of the Regional Health Center physicians are members of the medical staff at Winchester Hospital and can provide their patients with the full resources of the hospital, as needed.

The Regional Health Center is located at 500 Salem Street in Wilmington, just minutes from Rte. 93, at exit 40. Primary Care Physicians are all on staff at Winchester Hospital, and on call 24 hours a day. Appointments are available Monday through Friday, and may be made by calling the Health Center at (508) 657-3910.

Revolutionaries

Bob Paulsen and Lt. Ed Reynolds of the Wilmington Company of Minutemen spoke to fifth-graders at the Shawsheen School in Wilmington on Friday afternoon. Reynolds is shown demonstrating his musket. Paulsen, dressed in the uniform of a French soldier in Rochambeau's army, gave a riveting presentation on American flags. Below, Paulsen displays a 13-star Betsy Ross flag while Reynolds, along with step-daughter Jennie Bartlett, holds a Bennington (Vt.) Flag

In the depths of depression, she tapped a well of creativity

People faced with adversity have been known to reach within and bring forth great works.

Such is the case with Dee Genetti. Paralyzed in a 1983 traffic accident, she has since existed with the feeling that she is trapped. Her life went from that of an active mother with two young children and two businesses to that of a paraplegic, unable to get out of her own house without help.

Her husband Dominick bore the brunt of caring for their two sons, Christopher and Blake, and his paralyzed wife, even carrying her in and out of the house when necessary.

The mental and physical pain drove her into a deep depression. She spent months in the hospital, wanting to die. She was in denial, having terrible nightmares from the accident — and was keeping them to herself.

Gradually, her thoughts began to take shape in poetry, and she began to write.

The writing turned out to be good therapy for her, and things began to come together. On paper, she was able to express what she could not verbalize. Her situation was diagnosed as Post Traumatic Stress.

Dee Genetti

Seven years after her accident, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts finally approved a personal care attendant for her, and she was able to live outside the hospital environment. The state also paid to have a wheelchair lift installed at her house on Marcus Road in Wilmington.

In recent months, her life has improved. With the help of her personal care attendant, she is now able to manage the care of herself. She is hoping that the funding does not fall victim to the state budget woes.

Very significant is her new job, at the Northeast Independent Living Center in Lawrence, where she works as an independent living skills training specialist, providing training for people in similar situations. She has also gone back to school to finish her degree. She plans to graduate from Leslie College with a bachelors in human services and a masters in psychology and counseling.

Her situation has improved, but still needs improvement.

She has assembled her poems into a book, entitled "They forgot I had feelings, though I could not feel."

She sent the book to Carlton Press in New York and, much to her surprise, the book has been accepted for publication.

Many of the poems express the feelings that she has experienced, living trapped in a body and a chair. The poems reflect her deep depression, and her reactions to how others would treat her.

The title poem of the book follows:

They forgot I had feelings though I could not feel

The forgot I had feelings
though I could not feel.
They wouldn't talk to me until I would heal.

My physical condition an obvious plight with little mobility turns people to fright

They forgot I had feelings they tried not to know the stirrings inside of me that might scare them so.

But these feelings yet unspoken
just fester inside
People fear they'll be broken if I utter one sigh.

Emotional feelings are held deep in my heart but to not burden others
I'm tearing apart.

The awful dreaded silence
it's worse than disease.
This deadly dreaded silence
I cannot appease.

This dreadful silence started it hit hard and fast
'cause people don't know how to let go of the past.

Some body parts feel nothing yet some do remain.
filled with longing and yearning to be heard again.

When my body is enabled they will again speak but there's one thing forgotten — will I reach that peak?

These people pretend as they go on day to day if and when my body feels they'll have something to say.

They're awaiting the day this will simply disappear or at least until the day
I am out of the wheelchair.

If not, I'm confined with this dreaded, angry fear of speaking to people who just don't care to hear.

Tewksbury school news

The school year has begun. Books are being opened. Computers are busy. Learning, in a formal sense, has begun again. Clubs are organizing. Yellow buses are running again. Full operation is underway.

Tewksbury Junior High School will feature a "Back to School" Open House Thursday, October 4. All staff will be present. Programs and course offerings will be detailed. Homework and grading procedures will be explained. Any early difficulties can be approached by parent and teacher. Each parent will follow their child's schedule for seven simulated periods for Thursday so that a little bit of the daily atmosphere can be absorbed that evening - October 4 from 7 to 9 p.m. The program begins with a brief introductory presentation in the auditorium. Hopefully, many parents will take advantage of this opportunity.

All IGE staff will also be present to explain fully that program. October 4 is an excellent chance for you to ":get acquainted" with this year's teacher. The program begins with a brief introduction in the auditorium at 7 p.m.

The initial meeting of the Junior High School Parents' Group took place Thursday, September 20 at 7 p.m. with a lively discussion. Members of this group participate in many essential school subcommittees: past student code of conduct committee, recent middle school study committee, School Improvement Council, etc. All parents are invited to these informal discussion sessions. Raising funds is not a priority. Reflecting on school programs and problems is emphasized. Such parental feedback has proven most valuable to the administration over the years. We look for continued participation on October 11.

All parents of students at the Junior High School, including parents of IGE students, are invited to also participate with your questions and comments on Thursday, October 11, in the Junior High school library at 7 p.m. If you are unable to attend this second meeting, please keep November 15 in mind for the next monthly meeting date of Parents' Group and School Improvement Council.

The School Improvement Council was formed and organized at the September meeting. Three parents were elected by fellow parents in attendance. The parents elected this year are: Mrs. Rose Ellen Buda, Bradford Rd., parent of seventh grade student; Mrs. Nellie Sheridan, Sycamore Drive, parent of seventh grade student; Mrs. Cheryl Witham, Ida Street, parent of sixth grade IGE student.

Teachers already selected for this year are: Mrs. Patricia Krol, eighth grade social studies teacher; Ms. Dolly Sacramone, IGE teacher, grade five; George Kalarites, IGE teacher, grade five.

The School Committee representative, Joseph Gill of Ellington Road, was named by the school committee. At present, committee members are soliciting ideas so that a needs assessment can be developed at the October 11 Parents;' Group meeting. The council will be notified of the amount of Chapter 188 State funds to expend. Please take your ideas on expenditures to this October 11 meeting.

To Our Customers In Wilmington

Now calling the next towns costs the same as calling next door.

Where local call originates
Previous Free Calling Area
New, expanded Free Calling Area

We've expanded local calling so that you can call all bordering cities and towns as part of your local toll-free calling area.

This is a result of a recent Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities ruling that restructured rates and charges for telephone customers effective October 19, 1990.

As part of this restructuring, your basic monthly service charges will be increased, but that increase most likely will be offset by better values in local and toll calling.

Because in addition to a larger toll-free calling area, you'll also get reduced rates on toll calls within Eastern Massachusetts.

So whether you're calling for business or pleasure, it won't cost as much to stay in touch on New England Telephone.

New billiard parlor a booming success

by Tony Accardi

Boomers Pool Parlor located on the Wilmington/Woburn town line offers fun filled entertainment in a pleasant atmosphere. Owned and operated by Gary and Ruth Luchessi of Woburn, this new establishment has achieved success far beyond the expectations of its owners. In fact, business reviews have determined that Boomers is far and away the most successful new pool parlor to open in New England in the last five years. With this type of popularity, you can be sure that on almost any night you will wait approximately one hour for a table. This wait is even longer on Fridays and Saturdays.

According to owner Gary Luchessi, Boomers was named after a new affluent group known as baby boomers who now make up over 50 percent of the country's population and spend a majority of its money. Fittingly, Luchessi says that most of Boomers' clientele is between the ages of 20 and 45.

The charm of Boomers is manifested in its owner Gary Luchessi. Gary truly possesses a unique enthusiasm for the sports of billiards and pool. He discusses pool like an art lover talks about Michelangelo and Picasso. Likewise, Luchessi compares a good pool stick to a work of art. Amazingly, he doesn't even flinch when he quotes $150 to $3,000 for a good brush, I mean stick.

Pool is a seasonable business. "When the weather gets cold, people look toward indoor recreational activities," says Luchessi. "During the winter there are fewer pastimes to compete with pool, so business takes off."

The concept that led to the opening of the successful Boomers was a secondary, rather than primary intent..780 Main st., in Wilmington, the present location of Boomers, was available for sale or lease when the Luchessi family decided to inquire about it. They found that the space available was actually larger than needed to run their retail pool equipment show room. Since the cost would be higher, there was a need for another source of income to make the numbers work. Gary gives his wife, Ruth, credit for coming up with the idea of a pool parlor in Wilmington. "There wasn't anything around like Boomers. We knew it was a gamble, but we felt we had a good chance to break into a new market," says Luchessi. And break in they did!

Boomers is a division of Eastern Billiards, a company started by Paul Luchessi, Gary's father, over 50 years ago. Business has increased so rapidly that the firm has leased space in prestigious Webber Terrace in Wilmington as a show room for pool tables and other related equipment.

Eastern Billiards, Boomers parent company, makes most of its revenue from the sale and repair of commercial pool related equipment. This basically entails reclothing tables, installing new cushions, and relining pockets at such places as student unions and social clubs.

At Boomers you can play pool on one of their 24 high quality tables or if you prefer a more skilled game billiards is available also. The rates start at $6 an hour and graduate up depending on the number of players.

If competition is your thing, for a small fee of $5 you can enter tournaments which are held weekly. In order to insure exciting matches, the contestants are grouped into classes according to skill. The games are open to all who wish to participate.

But the excitement doesn't stop here. Boomers is planning a major professional tournament on October 6 and 7 with prizes totaling $10,000. "This open will attract the best players in all of New England" says Luchessi. "Players like Mike Vuglin from Albany, Tom McGonagle from Billerica and Nick Vlahos will be among the noted celebrities. And of course the public is invited to attend for a small fee.

The contestants in all tournaments at Boomers play nine ball, a game which has become the staple in professional competition.

Boomers is open seven days a week, 365 days a year. So this winter, if you're looking for a warm place to have a steamed hot dog and the opportunity for some unique entertainment you may want to try your hand at pool in Wilmington's newest success story.

Holly Pellerin returns home

Holly Pellerin returned home on Wednesday from the Lahey Clinic. She had been a patient there since last Wednesday when she was hit by a car near Papa Gino's.

She suffered a fractured skull in the accident, and leg injuries. She is getting around with some difficulty.

The report on the front page of last week's Town Crier identified her as Holly Pelletier. The officer investigating the accident had given that name to the Town Crier.

On Glen Road in Wilmington, there are two families with similar names. There is the Joseph Pelletier family, and the Peter Pellerin family. Thirteen-year-old Holly is of the latter.

Easy outdoor lighting adds real home value

By Jim Jensen

Exterior light remodeling is an inexpensive way to show off your home's best features. Light fixtures coordinated with the style of your house will not only enhance its appearance but will provide light for safety and convenience.

Most projects are easy to do yourself but require a knowledge of simple electrical wiring. Hire an electrician if you're not familiar with the basic techniques.

General guidelines

Select fixtures that match the look of your house. For contemporary homes, opaque, white glass or diffusing plastic fixtures work best. These obscure the bulb, reduce "glare" and soften the overall effect.

For more traditional settings, choose clear glass lanterns with low-wattage decorative bulbs. Lanterns lose their "charm" if the exposed bulbs are too bright.

Remember outdoor lights are exposed to the elements, so make sure all outlets and cables are waterproofed and underground systems covered with at least 12 inches of topsoil.

To help keep home wiring safe, a quality Ground Fault Circuit Interrupter is a good idea — and one required by the National Electrical Code.

General Electric's Ground Trip Receptacle for outdoor lighting is installed as easily as a regular outlet and will significantly increase the safety of the system.

Entrance lighting

A single light source above the front door casts shadows over visitor's faces, making people more difficult to recognize.

To direct light evenly, mount a pair of wall fixtures, one on either side of the door, 66 inches from the threshold.

With modern fixtures, use diffusers at least six inches wide and 55-watt Miser® bulbs. With traditional lanterns, install recessed fixtures in the overhang to provide "surrounding" light and allow the lanterns to glow softly to create atmosphere.

For maximum flexibility, vary light intensity with a high/low light switch. Use the high option only when you are expecting visitors.

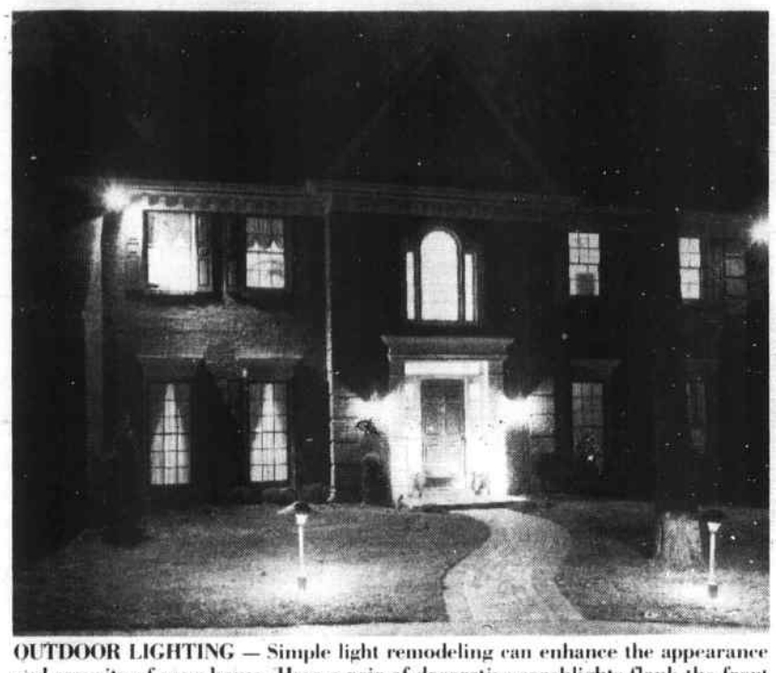

Driveways and walkways

Illuminate driveways with 6 foot (min.) post lights stationed 50 feet apart, and a few feet back from the driveway edge. Tall fixtures are less easily damaged by snowplows, and are fully visible when backing up an auto.

Again, use 25-watt decorative bulbs in clear glass lanterns or up to 100-watt bulbs in diffusing glass or plastic fixtures.

Lower post lights (less than 3 feet) are better for long pedestrian paths and walkways. Select fixtures with louvers that direct all light below the horizontal and use 40-watt bulbs. Position the lights 30-36 feet apart, and near steps or abrupt changes in grade.

Jim Jensen is a Home and Technical Lighting Specialist for the General Electric Company.

OUTDOOR LIGHTING — Simple light remodeling can enhance the appearance and security of your home. Here a pair of decorative coachlights flank the front door for atmosphere while 50-watt floods, cross-aimed at the entrance, provide ambient light to identify steps and landing.

To light a large area of garden, install 65 or 120-watt PAR floodlights high on the sides of the house, on poles or in trees.

For a wider "spray" of light, substitute 300-watt Quartzline® bulbs, but remember to consider your neighbors' comfort when aiming the lamps.

For further information on lighting techniques, send a stamped, addressed envelope and 75c for "The Light Book" to General Electric, Nela Park, Cleveland, OH 44112.

Where to put what in the kitchen

Work triangle

A well-designed kitchen has an efficient work triangle formed by three areas: The range and microwave oven, the refrigerator and the sink. Study what is stored in these areas. See if it's efficient. This guide may help you decide where to put what.

• Range/microwave oven — In this area, keep pots and pans, microwave cookware, platters and serving trays, muffin pans, baking and cooking utensils. Spices and herbs should be nearby but away from any heat source. Measuring cups/spoons and supplies like pasta, rice, cooking oil, canned foods and soups all can go in this area.

• Sink — Anything you need to wash, from casual dinnerware to potatoes, can be here. Keep things you use often (tumblers, mugs, food preparation gadgets and cutlery) at eye or waist level. Cutlery trays and drawer organizers bring small items into quick order.

A clean-up caddy installed inside the cabinet door beneath the sink can hide sponges, scouring pads, vegetable brush and other supplies. If young children are in the home, keep cleaning compounds high or install locks on cabinet doors.

• Refrigerator — In this area, store food storage containers nested with lids beneath each container. Place unrefrigerated food where it's convenient for food preparation. Inside the refrigerator, try turntables at the back of shelves to spin hard to reach items into easy view and reach.

Short on cabinets or drawers? Wrap and bag organizers, made to hold various-sized boxes of aluminum foil, waxed paper and plastic wraps, can be installed inside the door of base cabinets, on a closet door, or beneath a shelf or upper cabinet to free drawer space.

Single and twin turntables help maximize space in cabinets; use them for smaller cans, condiments, or dishes and glassware. Another idea: Install a high shelf around the kitchen to hold large appliances, mixing bowls or seldom-used items that eat up cabinet space. Use attractive baskets if you want things out of sight.

QUALITY PAINT BEST FOR BUSY COUPLES

If you and your spouse are a career-minded couple, you probably spend precious little time thinking about home maintenance. But precisely because time is precious, it pays to make the right decision when painting the exterior of your home.

In fact, by choosing a top quality acrylic latex house paint instead of an ordinary latex paint, you'll not only save time, but money and aggravation as well.

Laying the right foundation for paint

It's often said that a house is only as good as the foundation on which it is built. Similarly, optimal home painting results depend upon careful surface preparation as a foundation.

"The reason it's so important to prepare the surface properly is to insure that the paint adheres well," advises Walt Gozdan, technical director of The Rohm and Haas Paint Quality Institute. "Taking shortcuts is just inviting future problems."

How should you prepare exterior surfaces for painting? Gozdan offers these suggestions:

• Remove flaking paint. "To make sure that you get down to a sound surface, use a scraper or wire brush to remove any loose or flaking paint that's present. Finish the job by sanding any slick or glossy surfaces," says Gozdan.

• Remove any "chalk" that you see. Old weathered paint is often covered with a powdery substance, called chalk, that can prevent fresh paint from adhering well to the surface. This can usually be removed by washing down the surface with a simple soap and water solution made from common dishwashing detergent.

• Wash away dirt or mildew. These problems are most prevalent on the north and west sides of a house, according to Gozdan, who advises using a bleach solution to combat them. Wiping down the surface with bleach solution will kill most of the mildew and take away most of the blackness. "Be sure to rinse the surface thoroughly with water before painting," says Gozdan.

• Use a primer over bare wood surfaces. Primers help prevent the top-coat of paint from being absorbed into the wood. They also create a smooth surface to which paint will readily adhere. "Ask your local paint retailer to recommend a primer that's right for the job you're doing," advises Gozdan.

• On concrete or stucco surfaces, fill in holes and cracks. For large cracks in masonry, be sure to use a caulking material that will expand or contract when the temperature changes.

• Last, but perhaps most importantly, paint with a top quality acrylic latex product. "Although these paints cost a few dollars more, the investment is well worth it," says Gozdan. "They outlast and outperform other products. And they provide a kind of 'insurance' against errors you might have made in surface preparation because they have superior adhesion characteristics." 2538303

THE RIGHT CHOICE—Considering the many hours it takes to paint a house, it makes little sense to use an ordinary exterior latex paint since it lasts only about four years, according to The Paint Quality Institute. The better choice is a top quality acrylic latex paint that will last up to 10 years or more and save you money in the long run.

Salvage old cabinets, brighten kitchens

Tired of your kitchen looking outdated? Simply remodeling wood cabinets can give the whole room a face lift. First, strip off old cracked paint and fill any nicks and rough spots on cabinets with a wood filler such as Elmer's Fill 'N Finish. Sand and wipe clear.

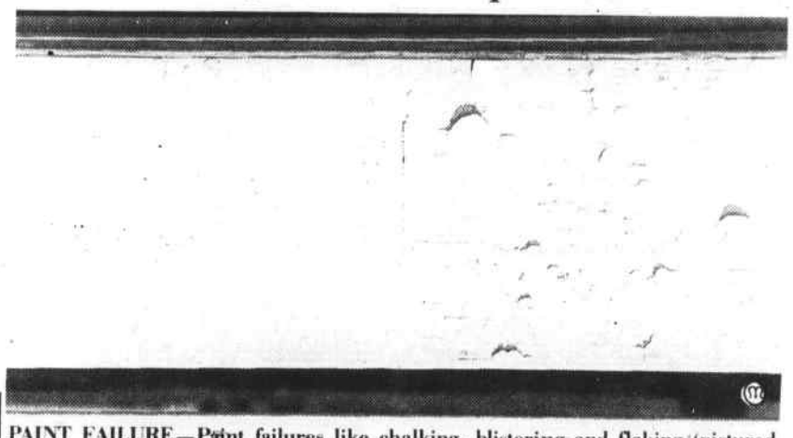

Panel cabinets to give them a new look. Glue on half moldings. Elmer's Wood Glue will hold strips securely in place without nails. Finish with a clear spray paint to protect. SH894013

Paint failure can be prevented

PAINT FAILURE—Paint failures like chalking, blistering and flaking (pictured above right) are caused by exposure to the three worst enemies of paint: sun, moisture and temperature fluctuations. Tests show that a quality acrylic latex exterior paint (shown on left) fights these enemies better and longer than ordinary latex paint, according to The Paint Quality Institute. 2538313

Recycle leaves for savings

For homeowners who do not plan to compost their own leaves, both Tewksbury and Wilmington will be collecting leaves for recycling.

Because trash sent to the incinerator costs each town $62 per ton, the towns are seeking to have homeowners put out leaves for special pickup.

In Wilmington, leaves should be put out either the week of Nov. 12 or the week of Dec. 10, at the same time as the regular trash pickup.

In Tewksbury, the pickup will begin on Oct. 15, with special leaf recycling bags available at no cost at the DPW building, the Town Hall, the library and the police station.

Paint when weather is right

Regardless of where you live, there's a good time and a bad time to undertake home exterior painting jobs.

The quick rule of thumb is to avoid temperature extremes, but for best results, consider all climatic conditions, advise paint experts at The Rohm and Haas Paint Quality Institute.

A perfect day for outdoor painting would offer temperatures in the 70 to 85 degree range, little or no wind and overcast skies. In much of the country, those conditions occur most frequently in spring and autumn.

However, it's not always possible to wait for a picture-perfect day to paint, so it's important to understand the relationship between weather conditions and painting results.

As most paint can labels tell you, it's unwise to paint when the temperature is below 50 degrees Fahrenheit, or when it is predicted to fall below that mark in the next day or two. But just because the air temperature is above 50 degrees doesn't mean the surface to be painted is warm enough.

If the nighttime temperature was below freezing, the surface of your home may be too cold to paint even if the air temperature gets above 50 degrees. That's especially true on the north side of the home, which gets the least sunshine.

Why is the cold a problem? It prevents the paint from forming a good film, which makes the paint more vulnerable to attack from the elements.

Very hot weather (100 degrees or more) can create similar problems by causing the water in paint to evaporate too quickly, preventing adequate formation of the protective paint film.

Remember, too, that if the sun is beating down on your house, the surface temperature can be 10 or 20 degrees hotter than the air temperature. As a result, it's best to avoid painting in the glaring sun.

If you must paint in the hot sun, spray the surface with water to cool it down to a suitable temperature. The damp surface can be coated with acrylic latex paint, but not with oil-based coatings.

Very windy days also will cause paint to dry too fast, so paint on calmer days if you can.

And although you shouldn't paint while it is raining, you can paint just after it rains—often within a half-hour after the rain stops if the surface is not visibly wet—as long as you are using a latex paint product. In most cases, you can't paint soon after rain with an oil or other solvent-based paint.

What if the rain comes after you've painted? As long as you've used a latex product, the rain shouldn't affect the paint job, assuming the paint is applied at least a couple of hours before it rains. Keep in mind that very high humidity will retard the drying of any paint.

Aside from following these weather rules on home exterior painting projects, The Paint Quality Institute recommends that you choose a top quality acrylic latex paint—flat, satin, semigloss or gloss—because of its more forgiving performance characteristics.

And if you have unanswered questions about the best time to paint in your area, ask for advice at your neighborhood paint or hardware store, or decorating center. They are great sources of information on all painting subjects. 2538305

Home security brings family peace of mind

During the next year, one in four homes will be burglarized in this country, according to the "Uniform Crime Reports," published by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Of the families burglarized, 80 percent will not recover any of their stolen items, and the average value of the belongings stolen will be $1,000.

Preventing intrusions

"While the bad news is that burglaries are up, the good news is that many of these intrusions can be prevented," says Bruce Peterson, marketing manager for Heath Zenith Reflex Brand Group, a St. Joseph, Mich.-based manufacturer of home security products.

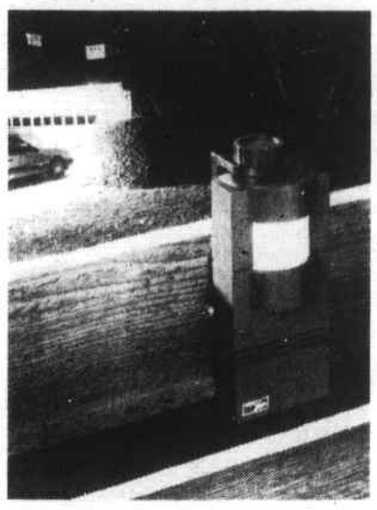

"Statistics show that homes equipped with alarms are 15 times less likely to be burglarized," he says.

While homeowners can spend $1,500 or more to have a system professionally installed in their homes, people may be surprised to learn that reliable, easy-to-install burglar alarm systems can be purchased at their local hardware stores for less than $100!

A good example of such a burglar alarm is a wireless "supervised" home security system that consists of a control center, door/window sensor, lamp module and remote control for arming and disarming the alarm.

If an intrusion takes place, the control center sounds a loud, piercing alarm and also triggers the lamp module, which causes one or more lamps to begin flashing.

The unit is fully expandable for whole-home protection. Best of all, it regularly tests itself to verify that all sensors are working. If one of the sensors is not functioning properly, the security system will alert you.

ADD YEARS TO THE LIFE OF YOUR HOME

If you're like most Americans, your home is your biggest investment. Therefore, it's important that you protect it. So, this fall, don't forget to think about seasonal maintenance.

To aid you in these efforts, the CertainTeed Home Institute offers the following checklist:

- Check your roof for signs of excessive wear. Inspect and patch any leaks to avoid snow and ice buildup under shingles.
- Check your attic insulation. If it is not up to today's energy standards for your geographic region, consider adding CertainTeed fiber glass batts or rolls.
- Remove screens and install storm windows.
- Insulate your crawl space.
- Check for cracks or broken masonry around your chimney.
- Caulk all cracks around windows and doors.
- Wrap ducts and pipes in unheated spaces with any insulation you have left over from other projects.
- Inspect the chimney and vent pipes to see if they are in working condition.
- Shut off outside water faucets and pipes to prevent freezing and broken pipes.
- Check the heating filter at least once a month. Dirty filters are a major cause of heat loss and unnecessary service calls.

Remember, whether you live in a modest ranch or a Georgian mansion, an ounce of preventive maintenance this fall can help protect the structural stability of your home, increase its value and add to indoor comfort.

For more information on home maintenance and improvements, write to the CertainTeed Home Institute, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, PA 19482, for a free copy of the "Energy Checklist For The Home Buyer & Seller."

Boost your home energy awareness this October

The federal government has declared October "National Energy Awareness Month." During the month, consumers nationwide are encouraged to learn more about how they can save energy, and make an extra effort to improve the energy efficiency in their homes.

The CertainTeed Home Institute has compiled this checklist of steps for homeowners:

• Upgrade attic insulation to meet new recommendations recently issued by the Department of Energy. With proper insulation, the load on home heating and cooling equipment can be reduced by as much as 20 percent, which can help cut energy costs.

The CertainTeed Home Institute developed a chart and map, based on the DOE recommendations, which makes it easy for homeowners to determine the right insulation levels for them. Local building materials dealers can also help consumers purchase the appropriate quantity for their needs, as well as recommend quality products, such as CertainTeed Fiber Glass Insulation.

Unheated areas like crawlspaces, basements, garages or storage spaces should also be insulated, to eliminate drafts and keep homes more comfortable.

• Weatherize. Proper caulking and weatherstripping of windows and doors can increase energy savings by up to 10 percent. Both are easy to do, using inexpensive products from a hardware store or home center. Many types of caulking and weatherstripping materials are available; a building materials dealer can help recommend the right ones.

• Install storm windows and doors. Investing in storm windows and doors can cut heat loss at those sites in half. Insulated and triple-glazed windows are even more effective. Window dealers can provide additional information about them.

• Buy energy-efficient lighting and appliances. Switching from incandescent bulbs to compact flourescent bulbs can cut electricity used for lighting by as much as 75 percent. When buying major appliances such as refrigerators, freezers, dishwashers or washing machines and dryers, compare the Energy Guide labels on competing models. Information on these labels can help determine the appliances' annual energy cost ranges. In the long run, an energy-efficient appliance will be a more economical purchase.

• Open the drapes. On sunny days during the winter, keep curtains and drapes open to let in sunshine that will help warm your home naturally. At night, close them to keep heat from escaping.

For more information about saving energy during "National Energy Awareness Month," write for a free copy of "An Energy Checklist for Home Comfort and Savings" from the CertainTeed Home Institute, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, PA 19482. ‡

Wilmington school news

Woburn Street School

Safety Officer Bob Shelley visited the Woburn Street School Monday October 1 and instructed the students on bus safety. Students observed a safety featured film and then proceeded to board a school bus and participate in an emergency evacuation.

Mrs Shack's art students bade "shellong" to summer but not to summer's seashells. All the Woburn Street School art students have studied seashells, their shapes and colors and have drawn them in their own unique manner. The fourth and fifth graders are being introduced to computer graphics. Presently these students are learning how to use the mouse.

Music teacher Toby Simon's students in grades one through five are busy and excited about learning to play the school's new orff xylophones, metallophones and rhythm instruments. These wonderful instruments have been purchased and paid for by the profits of last year's successful fundraiser, the selling of gift wrapping paper and holiday ornaments. A big thank you to everyone who contributed to this endeavor. Mrs. Simon is delighted that every student can now be actively involved experiencing a new dimension into creativity and composing during each weekly musical lesson.

Thursday October 11 National School Studios will be at the Woburn Street School taking individual school pictures. Specific price information will be sent home with the children.

Many thanks to all those who have so generously responded to the candy drive. Pac members Cheryll Hackett and Nancy Garrett are on "duty" each day collecting returns and giving out more candy upon request. Just a reminder, the candy drive will officially end October 9.

The annual Pumpkin Fair will be held Saturday, October 20 from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Plans are proceeding nicely, but there is always a need for more volunteers. Anyone who can help in any way should contact any of the Pac officers, Janice Silva, Sue Riese, Maryann McGonagle, or Marilyn Gambardella. The annual Pumpkin Fair has been a great success in the past and should be a fun filled day of raffles, games, child crafts, Ninja Turtles and much, much more.

The Woburn Street School Playground Committee is selling raffle tickets for a Cape Cod "get away weekend." Any parent interested in selling raffle tickets may do so by contacting the school.

The next Pac meeting will be held Tuesday, October 9 at 9:30 in the cafeteria. Babysitting is available.

Shawsheen School

All students will be taking pictures on October 9.

The PAC activities meeting will be held October 12, 7:30 in the school library. All interested persons are invited to attend.

A reception for Mr. Coffill will be held October 12 from 6:30 to 8 p.m., to thank him for a job well done and to wish him well in his new assignment.

All are invited to attend the pie auction, October 19 in the school cafeteria. Homemade cakes, pies, cookies and candies will be auctioned off to the highest bidder. It promises to be lots of fun for all.

The next Pac meeting will be held October 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

The Shawsheen School Pac recognizes its responsibility to support the cause of education in as many ways as possible. The Shawsheen School Parent Advisory Committee also recognizes that present budget reductions on the elementary level eliminate expansion of curriculum enhancement materials. Therefore the Pac is undertaking a program designed to invest in the future of education at the Shawsheen School. The Pac has set aside money to be given in mini-grants to further enrich the education available and to offer learning opportunities that would otherwise be missed. In this way the Pac seeks to help in maintaining the traditional high level of education available at the Shawsheen School.

By this announcement, the Pac is soliciting proposals from the Shawsheen School staff and it will select the ones which are judged to offer the greatest impact on students. It is expected that these proposals will include requests for funding of supplementary educational materials and equipment that will enhance the present curriculum. It is sincerely hoped that the list will include many types of innovative requests. Individual teachers may submit grant requests.

The organization has established a mini-grant selection committee composed of members of the Pac, Gloria Graves, Willa Brigham, Fran Corozza and Maureen Travis and one member of the faculty. In choosing programs to be funded, the committee will be open to proposals of any type and scope, but will exclude programs for which other funding is available. The committee will give special consideration to proposals which include one or more of the following features:

- Innovative and creative academic programs.
- "Hands on," concrete instructional materials (math manipulatives, etc.)
- Alternative education programs (critical thinking skills, listening skills, etc.)

The original and two copies of the proposal should be submitted to the Shawsheen School Pac Mini-grant Selection Committee by November 2.

The selection of mini-grants will be made from the proposals by Friday, Dec. 7. Monies will be available immediately to be spent. The Pac has allocated approximately $1,000. The goal is to fund as many as possible of the approved requests.

The volunteer program is well underway, with close to 30 parents working in the library, cafeteria and office. Four additional parents have volunteered their services to our media center: Jane Nitchie, Rich Tucker, Cheryl Cwiekowski, and Maureen Travis. The school is looking for volunteers to assist teachers in the computer lab. Those interested in helping should contact their child's teacher.

West Intermediate School

The first Pac meeting at the West Intermediate was held Thursday, Sept. 20 in the school library. At the meeting, Mr. Jordan handed out the new time schedules for classes to change. He explained that each grade changes rooms at different times, and they each have a separate lunch period. Also explained was the new activities periods which Mr. Jordan hopes to begin in October. Twice a week, different clubs will meet during the school day. Ideas for clubs will come from students as well as staff. At present, students are spending these two periods in homeroom unless they are in chorus or band.

The West Intermediate School welcomed Miss Marian Cart, a French exchange student, who spent the day talking to the Foreign Language classes on Friday, Sept. 21. Miss Cart met with several students who were eager to ask her about life in France.

The faculty and staff at the West welcomed parents to the school Tuesday, Sept. 26 for open house. Many parents were present. Parents who attended followed their child's Tuesday schedules and then had an opportunity to visit specialists in their classrooms before enjoying refreshments in the cafeteria. Anyone with questions, please do not hesitate to call the school.

Interim reports will be sent out Friday, Oct. 4. Parents who wish to meet with teachers after receiving interims should call the school to schedule an appointment at 694-6050.

A reminder to parents that school will be closed on Monday, Oct. 8 in celebration of Columbus Day.

Pictures at the West Intermediate School will be taken Tuesday, Oct. 9. Remember to smile!

Elections for the Student Council will be held Tuesday, Oct. 16. There are many posters up in the halls for students who are running for office.

The next Pac meeting will be held Thursday, Oct. 18 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the school library. Mrs. Cathy Symonds, English Department chairperson will be the guest speaker. All parents are encouraged to attend and share their ideas with the Pac.

The West has not forgotten its Earth Day labors and festivities from last school year. Returning from summer vacation, students were impressed by the cleanup of the flower beds by the town grounds crew over the summer. Bark now accentuates the area around the flower beds. Also the gladioli donated by Mrs. Janice Montalto were in full bloom and added life to the school's appearance. We're planning to plant many spring bulbs.

Members of the West Intermediate grade six team, Mr. Anderson, Mr. Connelly, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Fernino, and Mr. Tildsley are busy putting together an interdisciplinary topic for study. The unit is organizing and researching materials to include all curriculum areas and appeal to the variety of levels and abilities and interests of each student. Applications for educational and creative arts grants have been written and the team's activities and efforts include specialists from reading, music, art, library, and industrial arts.

Mr. Anderson's English class is writing letters to Air Force Captain William Mott, son of Donna Mott, our school librarian. Captain Mott is an F-15 pilot stationed in Saudi Arabia.

Mr. Connolly's social studies classes are involved in a detailed study of the ancient Egyptian culture. Students have practiced the hieroglyphic alphabet, each constructing a cartouche of their given names in hieroglyphics.

Mrs. Cox' class is examining the changing seasons in the northern and southern hemispheres through map studies, activities, and drawings.

Mrs. Fernino's English classes have been working on developing oral presentation skills. Each month, the students will be memorizing a poem and presenting it to the class orally.

Mr. Tildsley's science classes have just completed a unit on protists in the environment. The students experimented growing their own mold. Next week these students will be going on a nature/scavenger hunt.

The faculty and staff at the West Intermediate School would like to take this opportunity to publicly congratulate one of our own. Although he will be sorely missed, we wish the best to Mr. Young in his new role as assistant principal at Lunenburg's Middle School. Good luck Mr. Young.

Wildwood School

The open house at the Wildwood School was well attended. The classrooms and hallways were nicely decorated. Mr. Arsenault addressed the parents at the beginning of the evening. Parents then preceded to visit their child's teacher, many of whom provided valuable information in regard to school policy, educational programs, and student goals. The Wildwood Pac provided refreshments for the social get-together following the classroom meetings.

Many students have been busy using the computer lab. First graders have utilized software that reinforces letter and number recognition. Second graders have begun using Kid Writer, a simple word processing program which has an additional graphics component. Third and fourth graders have been putting the finishing touches on their creative writing activities with the use of the Writing and Publishing Program. Students in the fifth grade have been developing the first draft of their stories about fictional beasts.

Mrs. Stenson has her students off and running - nine minute run/mile. Physical fitness testing has begun.

Wildwood's "senior" chorus has begun preparing for the December 4 Christmas Program. Miss Zrackett's fourth and fifth graders are already preparing for the "In Celebration of the Arts" performance, which will be held in March. Our halls are ringing with sound!

Officer Shelley spoke to the students regarding bus safety earlier this week.

On Tuesday and Thursday the grade one readiness test will have been administered.

On October 12 students will have the class pictures taken. Students will be taking home brochures about this planned event.

The next Pac meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 4 from 1:30 to 3:00 p.m. All members and teachers are welcome.

North Intermediate School

The North Intermediate School Pac is organizing its first Craft/Baseball Card Show for November 10 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the school. Tables are still available for interested crafters. Anyone who is interested may call 657-7745 or 657-5463. The school needs lots of support for this event to be a success. Please pass the word around and mark your calenders.

A great deal of parental support for school projects was generated during the recent open house. Many parents have volunteered to help the school. Parents who would like to be part of our parent volunteer group should contact the school.

The Pac is once again collecting Pepsi school caps. Pepsi will donate five cents to the school for each bottle cap collected by December 30, 1990. Last year we earned over $175 from Pepsi. All caps can be dropped into the large Pepsi can display near the office.

The school is participating in the Apples for the Students Program sponsored by Stop & Shop and Bradlees. and is collecting all register slips from both stores. The goal is to collect receipts which total $25,000, for which the prize is an Imagewriter printer from Apple. All receipts can be sent to the office.

THE HEIGHT OF FASHION

Anyone who thinks that some of today's hairstyles feature excessive volume should look back to mid-eighteenth century France as a time when hairstyling reached new heights. The fashion of the time was to create mountainous coiffures which were seen as examples of high art. In fact, hairstyles assumed such voluminous proportions during this period that hairdressers often had to perch themselves atop ladders and high stools to fashion their art.

It was not at all uncommon for their creations to reach three feet in height. As for the coifs themselves, they were often built upon a superstructure of wire and supplemented with shredded rope, wool and horsehair. Many had themes, such as recreations of English flower gardens or great naval battles. Unlike today's wash-an-wear cuts, these hairstyles often remained in place for several weeks.

Your hairstyle should suit your fact, personality and lifestyle. Simple, easy to care for and attractive looks are today's requirements in our hectic lives. Visit the experts at SHAWSHEEN HAIR SALON for beautiful styling, coloring, perms and much more. Ask about our line of Matrix products: Vavoom-adds volume, energy and has endless styling options: Biolage - nature's answer to the perfect blend of science and therapeutic care for damaged hair; Matrix essentials - the right products for each need. Call (508) 658-9475, Mon-9-6, Tue 9-7, Wed., Thur 9-9, Fri 9-8, Sat 9-5. We are located at 161 Shawsheen Ave. Rt. 129, Wilmington. We wish you a happy Columbus Day.

HINT: It as not until after the French Revolution that high volume styles were supplanted by short-cropped hairstyles.

Speakers bureau available

Once again, the Wilmington Business/School Partnership Speakers' Bureau is being made available to the Wilmington teachers to complement classroom instruction. Last year, a resource file of speakers and topics was compiled in order to support the teachers in providing a creative and interesting curriculum for their students. It is the Partnership's belief that by providing a link between students and the community, the bridge from classroom study to practical application will be more easily crossed. Also, by sharing business expertise and/or hobbies with the students, the speakers will be creating a further interest in education.

The Partnership is looking to broaden the topics presently available and is encouraging interested people to take part in this worthwhile program. Not only are they looking for people who are knowledgeable in their field, but also people with interesting hobbies, travel experience,military background, demonstrations, and any other areas in which they believe would be interesting and educational to the students. The program is being made available for grades K-12 therefore speakers can adapt their topic(s) to meet the needs of the specific grade level.

Anyone interested in taking part with the Speakers Bureau and/or learning more about the program and the Partnership should contact Alan Fessenden at 694-6068.

MetLife nature walk Oct. 13

MetLife Outdoors presents "Signs of Fall," the third in a series of nature walks held on Ames Pond in Tewksbury. The walk will take place at Metropolitan Technology Park, on Rt. 133 in Tewksbury, on Saturday, October 13, 1990 from 10 a.m. to noon (raindate, Sunday, October 14, 1990 from 1 to 3 p.m.). The event is free and open to the public. Children should be accompanied by an adult.

Led by ecologists, the group will learn about animal migration and hibernation, the effects of fall on plant life and changes to Ames Pond in fall and winter. Activities will include bird banding and animal radio tracking.

For more information, or for advance registration, call MetLife Outdoors at (617) 437-1508.

MCC supper series begins Oct. 9

MCC's Tuesday Evening Supper Series will begin its fall program October 9 at 6 p.m., as it travels to Finland - Land of the Midnight Sun, with native guides Marja-Leena Bailey and Aire-Maija Schwann, experienced lecturers on Finnish culture.

Finland, located in the Arctic Circle, is a nation ethnically and linguistically set apart from the rest of Europe. While Finland is Europe's 5th largest country, it maintains the 5th smallest population. It is also known for its highly homogenous population. "The sterotype of Finns as having fair hair and blue eyes is really quite accurate," reports Ms. Bailey.

The recent Bush-Gorbachov meeting, which took place in Helsinki, was a reminder of the unique status Finalnd has maintained in the international community. Its geographic position, on the border between two different cultural spheres and social systems, puts it in an excellent position to serve as a ridge between east and west. And its policy of actively pursuing peaceful neutrality has allowed Finland to be removed from conflicts between the major powers.

Perhaps the one Finnish word every American is familiar with is "sauna," and indeed the sauna is an inescapable part of Finnish life. For young and old, rich and poor alike, the sauna is not the status symbol it has become in other countries, but rather a traditional ritual. "In fact," reports Ms. Bailey, "there are five million Finns and one million saunas." And in a land with 60,000 lakes where nearly everyone has a second home, the lakeside sauna is particularly popular. The "tour" will visit an authentic lakeside sauna, complete with its customs and rituals.

Participants are invited to join a congenial group for a delicious ethnic meal and stimulating discussion. It is an opportunity to meet new friends or take along your special group for an entertaining evening. Reservations are currently being accepted for the program that will be held at the MCC Burlington Campus, Terrace Hall Avenue.

The cost for the dinner and seminar is $19. Reservations are requested by Tuesday, October 2. For more information or to register, please call (617) 272-7342, ext. 3291.

Straight teeth talk...
NEED A SECOND OPINION?
There is probably no more enlightening experience to the orthodontic consumer-patient than the second (or third) opinion. Having diagnostic records taken does not commit the patient to that office. Once the records are paid for, the patient is free to take them to another office for another opinion. Just as no two patients are alike, no two dentists always agree. One might recommend starting at age nine, while another would wait until age twelve. One might propose extractions, while another would use a "functional appliance" to try and avoid extractions. These decisions all may have a bearing on the length, cost and outcome of the treatment.
The best resource to help judge the potential choices is often the family dentist who constantly sees the results of various orthodontists. And don't underestimate the comments of friends and neighbors about whether their child received tender, loving care by a concerned orthodontist and a well managed, courteous staff.
Orthodontics is a one-time, life-time investment. It should be done right the first time because it will most likely never be redone. Thus the wise consumer must investigate all options carefully and have the utmost confidence in the final choice of an orthodontic specialist.

One liners

Filming a commercial often requires many extras, those other people in the ad who fill the background and add flavor to the message. Doing a commercial for the Wilmington Community Fund Fun-A-Thon is no different. Karen Kirk, manager of WCTV cable channel 30, used the youngsters who were about to walk in the Walk-A-Thon as extras. Their line was, "Be there!"

Community fund telethon

Wilmington residents will have a chance to bid on donated items in order to help local youth and needy citizens at the upcoming telethon being planned by the Wilmington Community Fund. Dubbed a Fun-A-Thon, the October 20 event will be held on Wilmington Town Common from 1 to 8 p.m.

In the early afternoon, the various groups supported by the Community Fund will be available to provide information to the public and sign up youngsters for little league and other sports activities. From 4 to 8 p.m., an auction will be televised on channels 6 and 30. According to Fundraiser Chairman Bob DiPalma, residents will be asked to phone in a bid on donated items thast will be displayed on the cable stations. Among the more colorful itmes to go on the auction block will be a weekend for two at the Treadwell Inn in Boston, tickets to the Celtics and Bruins games, and the services of several local officials. All proceeds will go into Community Fund coffers to help Wilmington residents and local youth organizations.

Shawsheen Tech open house Oct. 25

Thursday, Oct. 25 is the date of the annual community open house at Shawsheen Tech "20-20 - Open Your Eyes to Shawsheen Tech" is the theme for the event, celebrating the technology of vocational education and the changes that have taken place since the school opened in 1970. The nineteen vocational and technical education programs will offer displays from 7 to 9 p.m., with students demonstrating skills. Displays will invite viewers to look back at the past, view the present, and get a glimpse at what 2010 might bring in technical innovations and education.

Students, teachers and graduates will be available in both vocational and academic areas to answer questions about the school and its programs. Guidance counselors will be on hand to discuss career and college opportunities for students with a variety of backgrounds and interests who choose Shawsheen Tech.

Visitors are invited to see the results of a $1 million investment in new technology for the school over the past year. Some of the new equipment includes: lifts for front engine, compact vehicles in the automotive department; new VAX 3300 and VAX 3400 computer systems in data processing, state-of-the-art technology for mainframes, allowing systems to provide backup for one another; expansion of the CAD/CAM equipment in drafting; computer numerical control (CNC) improvements in machine shop; a high efficiency, hot air/oil furnace with built in air conditioning in the air conditioning and refrigeration program; an esthetician care center in cosmetology for a program on contemporary skin care; and new equipment in culinary arts, including a gas broiler and a dial-a-matic pie machine, as well as the remodeling of the Ram's Head, the guest dining room.

Seventh and eighth grade students and their parents from the Shawsheen District towns are especially invited; other interested residents are also welcome. Visitors can register for door prizes, many of which are products and services of the vocational and technical programs at Shawsheen Tech and include such things as oil change, lube and filter from automotive; hair care services from cosmetology; and luncheon in the Ram's Head restaurant.

Open house begins with an overview in the school cafeteria at 7 p.m. that will summarize for visitors the school philosophy, schedule and academic, vocational and extracurricular options. Visitors can pick up school maps for a self-guided tour, or request a student guide to visit special areas of interest.

School sports and activities will be represented through swimming and cheerleading demonstrations, and student members of Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) will distribute information about this skill and leadership organization.

Shawsheen homecoming Oct. 12

Homecoming Weekend at Shawsheen Tech will begin Friday, October 12 with a pep rally at the school, and the recognition of the students from the Health and Cosmetology programs who were national competitors this summer at the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) contest in Tulsa, Ok. Friday night the Parents Advisory Council (PAC) will sponsor a Las Vegas Night at the Irish American Club, Middlesex Turnpike, Billerica, from 7 to midnight. Proceeds will benefit the PAC Scholarship Fund and the senior class. Parents and friends of Shawsheen Tech are encouraged to attend, to enjoy the event and support the school.

Watching football, renewing friendships, and dancing to the top hits will be among Homecoming activities on Saturday, Oct. 13. The Shawsheen Rams meet Greater Lawrence at 1:30 p.m. for the homecoming football game. During halftime, Shawsheen graduates from any class year, are invited to an Alumni Reception.

Invitations will be mailed soon to members of the Class of 1990 for their "Class of 90 Bash" in the cafeteria Saturday night. Graduates will receive their yearbooks at this party, which is by invitation only.

Last year's seniors will join Shawsheen students later at the Homecoming dance, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. at the school. A highlight of the evening will be the crowning of a Homecoming king and queen. A girl from each class has been elected by the student body to be a member of the court. Music will be provided by a local popular deejay, Bill Rice.

Members of the Class of 1985 will celebrate their five year reunion the same evening with dinner and dancing at the Days Inn in Woburn, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Art demonstration next Wednesday

An important date to remember is the evening of Wednesday, Oct. 10 when well-known Gloucester artist, Bernard Gerstner will give a watercolor demonstration at the Wilmington Arts Center.

In the past demonstrations by artists at the center have been extremely well attended, and because of this noted artist's reputation this demonstration should prove very popular.

His subject matter is not confined to the Cape Ann or New England area; his works portray the beauty of New York State, the Caribbean, South Carolina, Georgia, New Mexico, and most recently Bermuda.

He has won many top awards and has been published by Grumbacher Art Supply and other trade papers. He holds membership in many prestigious art associations both locally and internationally.

His summer gallery is at Rocky Neck, East Gloucester and his winter gallery is located at 1076 Washington St., Gloucester which is in Lanesville.

The demonstration will be free of charge and the public is cordially invited. The program begins at 7:30 p.m.

McGovern hours

Senator Patricia McGovern has announced her office hours for the month of October.During these times, the Senator or a member of her staff will be available to discuss issues of concern with residents of her district which includes Tewksbury, Lawrence, Andover and Billerica.

Fuel applications

Community Teamwork has notified the COA that applications for fuel will not be mailed to seniors who received last year until later than they expected. The reason, they have not received them from the Federal Government. I was also told they are expecting the time the Federal will pay oil bills will be pushed up to the end of November or December. Remember when you do receive your application, sign it and if you have a pension include a copy of it with the application and return it as soon as possible.

For those who never applied before, but feel they may qualify, you will need a copy of all your income, that is, your Social Security check and pension checks. When you read in this paper that I have the applications, bring them with you when you arrive for your appointment. These are the income levels to qualify for assistance:

A household of one to receive $525, income cannot be higher than $7,850; to receive $285, no higher than $9,420; for a household of two to receive $525, the income level of both cannot be higher than $10,525 and to receive $285, it cannot be higher than $12,630. I was told the state money has been dropped, but if it is reinstated we will be notified. To qualify for $150, a household of one cannot exceed $10,990, and a household of two no higher than $14,735.

November social full

The therapeutic social for November has been filled. If you have signed up and find you cannot attend, please call the center so we can fill the vacancy with a senior on the waiting list.

Joe Filipowicz

Shop instructor Joe Filipowicz will be starting signups for his class October 5. He has to limit the class to eight. After he reaches that number, if you want to join his class, you will have to wait for a dropout. The class will be held Thursday mornings from 9 to noon starting October 11.

Flu and pneumonia shots

The nurse will be giving flu and pneumonia shots at the Buzzell Senior Center, 15 School St. October 24 from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. The flu shot is free, but the pneumonia shot will cost $5. If you have had a pneumonia shot before it is unlikely you will need another.Check with your doctor before taking it.

Center closed Monday

Monday is Columbus Day. The Center will be closed. Lunches will not be delivered or served. A shutin may order another lunch this week to take care of Monday if you have no family member able to make up a meal for you.

Minibus

The minibus will not be on the road so please make appointments accordingly.

Donation from Analog

We have received a donation from Analog to cover the cost of this year's holiday season shutins catered dinner delivery. We are hoping to deliver the meal a few days before Thanksgiving. Approximately 100 dinners will be delivered. We will select 100 seniors from our shutin list for this delivery. We have a large list and try to keep it updated as we hear of new shutins, but sometimes we may not be told or cannot find out ourselves. If you are a new shutin or want to find out whether you are on our list, call the center. If we have never sent you a catered dinner we will be very happy to do so this year. It is not necessary to be low income to receive a meal. It is enough to be a shut in.

Elderly increasing

The elderly of the country are increasing at a very rapid rate and Wilmington is no exception. We are seeing a tremendous increase in residents reaching 60 and many of our older residents needing our minibus and respite care. Unfortunately the bus is on the road only six and a half hours a day (9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.). With Wilmington 17.8 sq. miles in area on top of that we travel a 13 mile radius outside the town to medical appointments and other elder related travel. Many days to satisfy all is impossible. Some days the respite care service can fill in but most of the time with only four hours she works she has her hands filled serving seniors who cannot use the minibus.

If seniors have transportation by a family member it would help to ask them, that will allow us to take those with no family or family member at too far a distance to help them.

Gillis turns corner

Wilmington Pop Warner D' team quarterback Tim Gillis turns the corner for a nice gain in his team's 19-0 victory over Watertown. The win pushed the D' team record to a perfect 4-0 on the season. (Sid Tildsley photo).

Wilmington Pop Warner

A' squad belts Watertown, 18-6

The Wilmington Pop Warner A team won its' third consecutive game with an 18-6 victory over Watertown.

Brian Tildsley led the scoring attack with touchdown passes to Josh Levesque and Jack Warford.

Solid line play by Chris Carter, Jason Gardner and David DePasquale made possible another 200 yard plus rushing game for David Sullivan, Stephen O'Neil and Brian Meades.

The defense figured in the scoring with a 68 yard run back after an interception by Phil Rittucci.

Watertown's outside rushing game was stopped cold by the outstanding defensive play of Jack Warford, David Maglio, Jay Iannacchino and Phil Rittucci, while the inside game was taken away by Paul Stott, Brian Ashdown, Stephen O'Neil and Josh Levesque.

Brian Meades and John Florence also played well on defense. The A team would like to thank the team cheerleaders for their motivation and support. Wilmington Pop Warner next plays at Wakefield on Sunday.

B Team falls, 19-0

Wilmington's B team lost to a tough Watertown squad, 19-0. The offense never got on track.

The Wildcat defense played a strong first half on big plays by Mike MacDonald and Rich Gillis.

The captains for Wilmington were Adam Mazza, Dan Bates, Wayne Francis and Dave Bennett.

Wilmington tried several combinations on offense, but the Watertown defense was there at all times. Wilmington's big offensive play of the day was a 30 yard pass to Colin Sullivan. Next week's opponent is Wakefield.

C team tied

The Wilmington C team faced its' toughest team ever, with the final outcome being a 0-0 tie.

The offensive backs played well, with Lee Trimarchi at quarterback and Sean Kerrigan carrying the ball.

Defensively, there was hard tackling by Michael Nadea, Scotty Fullerton, David DeAmato and Mike Berian.

Heads-up ball was played by both teams, with Mike O'Toole and Billy Harrison leading the way.

D Wildcats win again

The D team Wildcats made it 4-0 with a convincing 19-0 win over Watertown. The offense was led by quarterbacks Tom Southmayd and Tim Gillis.

In the first quarter Tim Gillis ran 43 yards for a TD on a great block by Jamie Campbell. The extra point was run in by Jamie Campbell.

In the second half, Tim Gillis scored his second TD on a five yard run. Jamie Campbell finished off the scoring on a fine 13 yard run. Excellent runs were also made by Jay Isberg, Derek Mazza and Chris McDonald.

The offensive line did a great job led by blocking from Dan DeCourcey, Mike Shelly, Joe Tusa, and Jay Tildsley.

On defense, the Wildcats played another great game led by Mike Levesque, Tim Gillis, and Jamie Campbell.

Also playing good games were Chris McDonald with a fumble recovery, Tom Baratta, Ryan Clancy and Adam DePasquale.

DD Wildcats perfect

The DD Wildcats made it 3-0 with a tough 7-0 win over Brookline.

The offense was led by quarterbacks Dan Bennett and Rich Tabor.

The Wildcats scored in the first half on a six yard run by Rich Tabor. Jon Aprile ran the extra point to make it 7-0. The offense had some fine runs by Scott Aldrich, Mike Maynard and Don Keating.

The offensive line played well and was led by Joe Berian, John Shirley, Mike F. Warford and Scott Hubby.

On defense, Mike Maynard made a great play, catching a Brookline runner from behind and stopping him from scoring. Other players having good games on defense were Jon Aprile, who led the team in tackles, Dan Bennett, Dan Keating, Carl Giangregorio and Ken Branley.

Leaping grab

Wilmington High School senior Bob Voner reaches high to make this catch along the sideline between three Haverhill defenders Saturday. Voner and the Wildcats took a 6-0 lead before losing to undefeated Haverhill, 25-12.

Mates react to fine catch

Moving in to congratulate Voner after the play are teammates Mike King (87) and Dennis Walsh (12).

Red-hot Redmen ready for Hillies

Don't look now, but the Tewksbury High School football Redmen under first-year head coach Joe DelGrosso are 3-0 in the Merrimack Valley Conference and rated number one in all of Division One heading into this Saturday afternoon's showdown with the fourth-ranked and also unbeaten Haverhill Hillies.

The Redmen rolled over a good Andover team, 31-6 at Doucette Field Saturday, as the TMHS' offense compiled almost 400 yards for the third time this season.

Junior quarterback Dana Boudreau exploded, completing eight of 11 passes for 165 yards and two touchdowns. Dana found Mike Thorsen (25 yards), Sean Conley (33 yards) and Sean Mackey (60 yards) for scores that left the visiting Golden Warriors in the Doucette Field dust.

Tim Lightfoot scored the team's lone rushing touchdown on a 13 yard bolt and Mackey opened the scoring for Tewksbury with a 25 yard field goal in the first quarter. Sean also threw to Thorsen for a two point conversion and booted a pair of one point PATS to cap the rout.

Conley played his best game of the season both offensively and defensively, rushing for 117 yards. Lightfoot finished with 63 yards for the Redmen.

This offense again appeared to have too much speed and too many weapons for the opponent, as Jon Harvey, Thorsen, Mackey and Conley were all Boudreau targets. Quarterback Matt Perry scored the lone touchdown for the 1-2 Golden Warriors.

Haverhill didn't exactly stomp on the young Wildcats, who took a 6-0 first quarter lead and trailed only 13-12 in the third quarter before the game slipped away.

Hillie running back Rusty White was the big Cat killer with 150 yards rushing and quarterback Scott Redfearn completed six passes, threw for a touchdown and scored one himself. Both of those players will be Tewksbury targets Saturday.

Wilmington sophomore quarterback John O'Reilly appears to be improving each week. Saturday he completed 14 passes and found Dennis Walsh with an eight yard scoring strike. Derek Coles gave Wilmington a 6-0 first quarter lead with a three yard run.

Haverhill has now defeated Billerica, Lawrence and Wilmington, and while their schedule does not hold up to Tewksbury's, they still represent an obstacle to a team that appears to be on a mission. This could get very interesting.

Minnesota will bounce back

by Mike Stuart

Although I had an off week, I thumbed through the Boston newspapers and to my amazement, I wasn't the only one.

Certainly this early NFL season has produced many surprises, while parity seems to be the word of the year. (Rozelle would be happy to hear that). As week five comes up, I feel that the teams that should be winning will start to effectively produce results. So hopefully this week will result in a major rebound.

Bright spot for TMHS Tewksbury's Brian Foster (43) hustles to help a teammate in the 4-2 victory over Westford Academy. Foster has been a bright spot for the Redmen so far this season.

TMHS boys' soccer

Redmen battle slow start

The Tewksbury High School boys' varsity soccer squad entered its' 15th season September 12 on a low note, as the Redmen lost under the lights to MVC favorite Chelmsford, 3-1.

On September 15 the Redmen travelled to Methuen, only to be sent home when lightning and pouring rain ended any doubt about playing the game.

Two days later the Redmen made their return trip to Methuen a successful one, as they downed the Rangers, 4-1.

The next day Tewksbury opened up its' home schedule with a 3-1 victory over the Haverhill Hillies and followed that two days later by handing Wilmington its' first loss of the season, 3-0 at Tewksbury.

The Redmen travelled to Billerica Saturday morning, Sept. 22 and found themselves on the short end of a 2-0 score.

Back at home on Monday, Sept. 24, the Redmen came from behind to defeat Westford in a non-conference game.

Winning consistently was a problem as the Redmen lost under the lights again, this time to Andover by a 4-1 score.

Yesterday the Redmen will have hosted Lowell, and on Thursday, Tewksbury travels to Dracut for a 3:30 match vs. the Middies.

Former Tewksbury varsity soccer captain Nario Simao is in his first hear as head coach of the Dracut squad.

On Saturday morning, Oct. 6, Tewksbury hosts Central Catholic in a 10 o'clock game and then on Monday, Oct. 8, the Redmen travel to Bedford for a 7:30 p.m. game vs the Buccaneers. The 5:30 p.m. game has the Tewksbury girl's varsity team playing at Bedford in an unusual doubleheader.

This year's varsity soccer team is led by seniors Craig Hogan and Mike Frasca. The team has yet to put together a consistent winning streak, but has great potential to do so.

The Redmen are part of the MVC Small School Division, which consists of only four teams, as Lawrence dropped out just before the season started.

Tewksbury will play Small School rivals Methuen, Dracut and Wilmington twice each, along with one game each against Large School teams from Andover, Billerica, Chelmsford, Haverhill, Lowell and Central Catholic.

Tewksbury will also up its' game total to a maximum of 18 with six non-conference games against Westford, Bedford, two versus St. John's Prep of Danvers, Lincoln-Sudbury and one more game against Central Catholic.

Chelmsford 3 Tewksbury 1

Injuries haven't allowed the Redmen to put forth a set team yet, and a look at happenings to come may have showed its face in the opening two minutes of the Chelmsford game, when senior co-captain Craig Hogan had to leave the field by ambulance after a collision that ruptured his ear drum and caused a severe concussion. Craig's injury would keep him out of the next six games and put a cramp into the Redmen's offense and defense.

Tewksbury's Kyle Moore, moving up from the defense to the forward left wing, then snuck a shot into the keeper's far right corner to make the count 2-1.

But no sooner than 21 seconds later the Lions put the game away, as four defensive errors in a row, led to Chelmsford's final goal.

Tewksbury's goalkeeper for the game was David Bell, a senior.

Tewksbury 4 Methuen 1

Although falling behind 1-0 on a 30 yard direct kick by the Rangers, the Redmen were controlling the game, and just waiting for the scoring to happen. And it did. Dean Goldsworthy, a senior midfielder, scored twice, once in each 40 minute half, leading Tewksbury to the 4-1 win.

Senior Brian Foster and junior Steve Previte notched the other two goals, while seniors Joey Centrella, Jay MacMullin, Steve Field, and Brian Foster all were credited with assists on the goals. Junior Nick Fiore was in net for the win.

Tewksbury 3 Haverhill 1

The Hillies came to Tewksbury and played tough. The Redmen took a 1-0 lead 11 minutes into the game and held that slim lead at halftime.

Brian Foster scored the goal off a good pass from Jay MacMullin. Less than two minutes into the second half Haverhill tied the game. Joey Centrella, a center forward, with great speed then broke the tie, taking an assist from Dean Goldsworthy. This came two minutes after the Hillies tied the game.

The score stayed 2-1 Redmen until there was less than 10 minutes to go when junior back Robbie Coughlin overlapped the wing midfielder and shot a pass from Steve Field into the far corner of the net to give the Redmen the final 3-1 score.

Both Bell and Fiore played a half each in the game, with Fiore getting credit for the win.

Tewksbury 3 Wilmington 0

Wilmington was hot, riding a season opening four game win streak into Tewksbury.

Tewksbury came ready to play on this day, and could do very little wrong. Junior Tim Nawn scored the game winner at the 17 minute mark of the first half with an assist going to wing forward Brian Foster.

Six minutes into the second half, a corner kick by senior back Ken Fowler was put into the net by midfielder Jay MacMullin.

Twenty minutes into the second half Joey Centrella capitalized on a feed from Steven Field to give the Redmen a hard earned 3-0 win.

David Bell was in net for the Redmen, who had yeoman work in front of him provided by Greg Columbus, a senior stopperback, sweeper Robbie Coughlin, and wing backs senior Ken Fowler and sophomore Kyle Moore.

Billerica 2 Tewksbury 0

A disapointing loss after a good win caught the Redmen standing around, unable to clear the ball out of their own end, and not moving off the ball in order to sustain any type of attack.

Billerica scored both goals in the second half on a 30 yard drive, and a defensive error which allowed the Indians to walk in all alone to the right side of the keeper, scoring off a low cross in front of the net. David Bell was in net for the Redmen.

Tewksbury 4 Westford 2

It has become a question of which Tewksbury team is going to show up to play; the aggressive, hard working, fast moving team, or the standing around and wait for a break (that usually never comes), team.

Westford, a good team from the Central Mass. Wachusett League, came to Tewksbury for a non-conference game. The game started as a shoot-out, with Joey Centrella scoring 1:58 into the game. Westford came back at the eight minute mark to tie the game, and then take the lead five mintues later off a direct kick.

Nine seconds later, right off the starting kick after the goal, Steven Field fed senior Richie Proulx a pass through the Grey Ghost defense to tie the game at 2-2.

The score remained tied until 21 minutes into the second half when junior Allan Simao scored off a pass from Richie Proulx.

Steven Field ended the scoring when he deposited a direct kick pass from senior Sal Reitano. Nick Fiore was the goalkeeper, and senior Jay MacMullin had an excellent game at center midfield.

Andover 4 Tewksbury 1

Guess which team showed up for this game. Well, for at least a 25 minute period of the first half. The Redmen travelled to Andover, and came out smoking. Dominating the first 16 minutes, it looked as though it was going to be a long night for the Golden Warriors.

But as fate has it, a long 30 yard shot was the difference in the game, as the rebound off a corner kick caught the Redmen flat footed, and passed the momentum to Andover.

Tewksbury at the eight minute mark took the lead, when Mark Eastman converted a Craig Hogan cross into a 1-0 Redmen lead.

Hogan was playing his first game since his massive injury in his first game of the season versus Chelmsford.

Andover after tieing the game, took the lead less than two minutes later, then controlled play for the next 15 minutes before capitalizing on another poor defensive decision, to up the count to 3-1.

Four minutes later the final goal of the game would be Andover's as the defense was at its' worst on a right to left cross.

The second half was basically controlled by the Redmen, but scoring a goal was not in the books on this night under the heaviest of Tewksbury offensive thrusts.

Dave Bell was the goalie of record. The Redmen fell to 3-3-0 in the MVC Small School race and 4-3-0 overall.

Wilmington Youth Soccer

Scholarship dance set for Oct. 19

The Wilmington Youth Soccer Association is heading toward the halfway point of a super fall season.

There are 30 teams competing in six different divisions in the in-town program and 13 teams playing other towns in the traveling program.

The action has been furious in both programs. Off the field, the highlight of the season will be the annual fall scholarship dance which will be held at 8 p.m. on October 19 at the K of C Hall. All parents of soccer players and their friends are invited to attend this dance. All proceeds of the dance go toward funding the WYSA Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Rockets vs Smurfs

The Smurfs edged the Rockets, 2-1 in a tight, well played soccer game.

Daniel Liberty and Ryan Gaudet provided the Smurfs' goal, with assists to Jonathan Trembly and Darren Brown. Corey McCann was strong in the Smurfs' goal.

Chris Isberg scored for the Rockets assisted by Michael Maleszyk. Richard Buttaro and Kyle Burns made several fine saves in the Rockets' goal and Richard Palizzola was solid at fullback.

Meteors vs Ghostbusters

The Meteors nipped the Ghostbusters, 1-0 behind a Jason Loring goal.

Chuckie Osgood and Matt Waisnor were unbeatable in goal and Brian Witham and Brian Martiniello played great two-way games for the Meteors.

The Ghostbusters were led by the goaltending of Justin and John Hoff and the all-around hustle of Mike Hiltz and Jacob Saad.

Ninja Turtles vs Sunspots

Danny Alosco scored all three goals to lead the Ninja Turtles past the Sunspots, 3-2.

Chris Styles and Robert Schell provided key saves in the Turtles goal while Solomon Gordon, Jacob Watroba and Kevin Jones played strong games.

Flames vs Electric Grapes

The Flames put on a dazzling display of soccer skills in blanking the Electric Grapes, 5-0.

David Trueira scored twice for the Flames, while Gregoty LeFave, Brent Guiliano and Chris Van Asselberg added a goal each.

Benjamin Heard, Sean Moroney, Anthony Van Asselberg and Robbie Nagle also excelled for the Flames.

The Grapes received good performances from Jason Stark, Joey Ranno, Patrick Brassil and Luke Gennetti.

Panthers vs Lions

The Panthers edged the Lions, 4-3 in a hard fought soccer game.

Four different players - Rachel Shaffer, Lorilynn Fenton, Shannon Lyman and Gina Pavone - scored for the Panthers.

Kelly Arsenault, Michelle Fenton and Gina Pavone preserved the win with great netminding.

Pumas vs Tigers

The Pumas shutdown the Tigers, 4-0 behind three goals by Melissa Goglia and one by Elise Boisvert.

Tegan Standyck and Kim Hemberlee assisted on the goals and Kim Landry, Tricia Batten and Allison Giordano led the defensive effort.

Bluejays vs Cardinals

The Cardinals and Bluejays battled to a 1-1 tie. The Cardinals' goal was scored by Courtney Gilligan and solid games were turned in by Sheri Tremblay, Christine Flibotte, Robin Diorio, Meredith McKenna and Charlene Tamilio.

Jennifer Kozcen scored for the Bluejays assisted by Robin Mainini. Valerie Cwiekowski, Jaclyn Ingram and Katie Chisholm played fine all-around games and Julie Johnson and Kerin Parker excelled in goal.

Finches vs Orioles

The Finches blanked the Orioles, 3-0 behind goals by Jessica Butler, Jennifer McNabb and Christine Ross.

Heather Marrano, Nikki Gounaris, Kimberly Ward and Christina Downs showed exceptional hustle for the Finches on a hot, tiring day.

The Orioles received strong games from Colleen Cahill, Meghan Cagill, Jennifer Anderson, Elizabeth Dorrance and Stephanie Sordillo.

Violet vs Roses

The Violets and the Roses battled to a 1-1 tie in an exciting game. Catlyn Bransfield scored the Violets' goal and Laura Irwin protected the tie with great goalkeeping.

Erin McDonough, Hilary Carter, Heidi Brown, Kendal O'Dea, Christine Johnson, Elizabeth Carter, Lisa Hurley, Katie Houle, Lauren Whitfield and Krista Roberts all played well.

Bengals vs Dolphins

The Bengals exploded for seven goals against the Dolphins. Giancarlo Romagnoli and Ben Anderson each notched three goals and Michael Halas scored the other.

Charles Ward and Jonathan Eaton played terrific defensive soccer and Jonothan Fowle and Michael Fournier assisted in the attack for the Bengals.

Spartans vs Boilermakers

The Spartans and Boilermakers battled to a scoreless tie in a hard-fought, well-played game.

Keith MacDonald preserved the tie with great goalkeeping for the Spartans. He was aided by strong efforts from Brian Vasseur, Eric Lambias and Joel McKenna.

The Boilermakers put forth a strong effort led by Eric Power, Charlie Rice, Joey Martiniello, Glenn Brewer and Matt Hardy.

Jayhawks vs Fighting Irish

The Jayhawks battled from behind to tie the Fighting Irish, 4-4.

Jimmy Tavares scored twice for the Jayhawks, while Eric Mantey and Eric Mehigan each scored once. Greg Anderson led the Jayhawks on defense.

The Fighting Irish got two goals from Charlie Ross and one each from Ben Masse and Paul Savage to forge the tie. Tim Devlin and Bill Tate made several key plays for the Irish.

Carnations vs Daisies

The Carnations played another awesome game. The team was solid, with great goaltending by Lisa Dineen and Marie Sampson and goals scored by Michelle Tobin, Michelle Lemos, Julie Cronin, Diane Dellascio, Molly Pidgeon and Marie Sampson.

Lions vs Pumas

Melissa Herland scored three goals to pace the Lions over the Pumas.

Charisse Thresher, Erin Watters and Jamie Paquin also scored for the Lions, while Suzanne Berghaus, Melissa Mather and Kim Landry played very well.

Boys Under 14-I

The boys remained undefeated this season with a 4-1 win over North Reading. Each player excels in handling of the ball and team playing.

In the first half of the game Greg Peters made a beautiful corner pass kick to Eric Jones who was able to put the ball in the net for goal number one.

Forwards Danny King, Darren Bishop and Brian Carroll would not allow the North Reading goalie to rest. They continually kept the pressure on.

With a stroke of luck and skill, North Reading kicked the ball toward Glenn MacNeil, who then went after it and scored goal number two.

North Reading was allowed only one goal in this game thanks to the superb talents of goalies Patrick Cahill and Kevin O'Leary.

Wilmington came on with a vengeance in the second half. Andy Armata's skills at controlling the ball were passed on to halfbacks Doug Olender, Ryan Swasey, Paul Heigham and Dave DeSantis.

Much of the work in this game was done by fullbacks Keith Audette, Garrett Whittemore, John Lynch and Richie Barden.

Eric Jones was able to score two more goals, making it a "hat trick" for him in a 4-1 win.

Boys Under 12-I

The Wilmington boys under 12-I team continued its' successful fall season with two more victories against Billerica and Wakefield to extend their record to three wins and one tie against no defeats.

The Billerica game marked the first time this season that Wilmington fell behind its' opponent.

The first goal came via a Billerica penalty kick despite a diving save attempt by Joe Bamberg. Billerica soon followed with another score to lead 2-0.

However, the young Wilmington squad refused to give in and struck back with three quick goals in the second half.

Many of the offensive opportunities were triggered by booming corner kicks from the foot of Doug Bonnarigo. Doug's first boot dropped the ball in front of the goal, forcing athe Billerica keeper to slap the all away from the Wilmington forwards.

Halfback Chris Kilburn trapped the clearing attempt and slammed the ball back in the goal.

The second goal came from a fine header by Scott Fullerton off a rebounded shot in front of the goal.

Wilmington continued to use their heads, as Darryl Plimpton headed in the third score after Billerica failed to clear another Doug Bonarrigo corner kick.

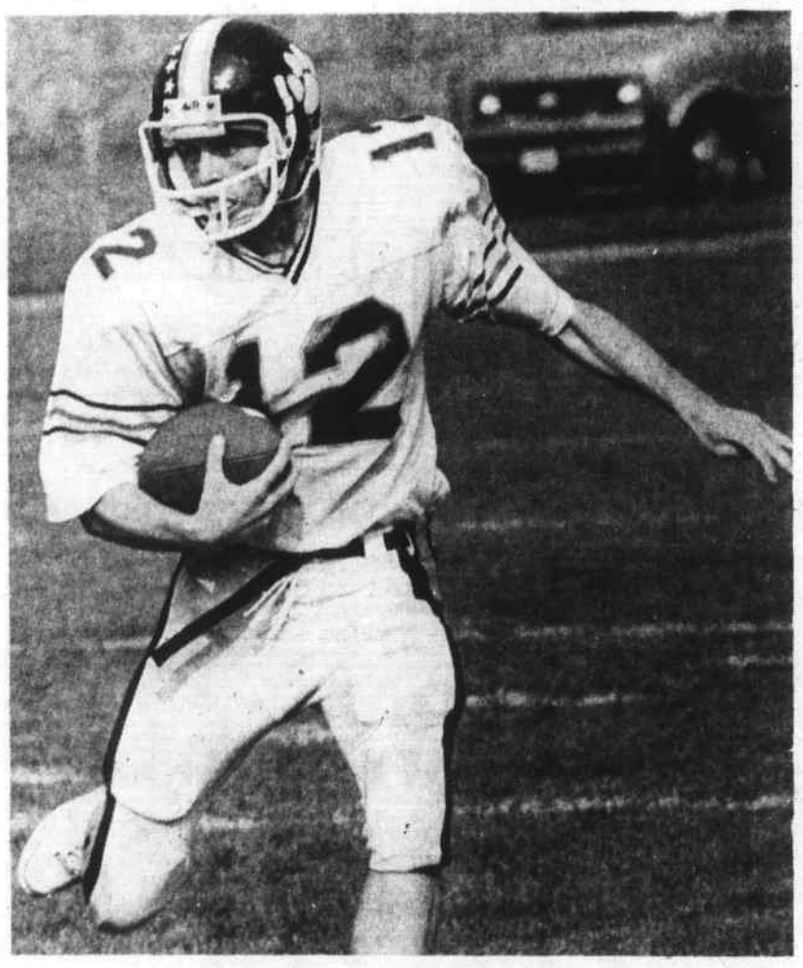

Overall, the play of the Wilmington team continues to improve, with passing and trapping providing many other offensive opportunities.

The improvements continued the following week, as Wilmington dominated a less experienced Wakefield team. Three quick goals provided all the scoring in the game, as Wakefield's excellent goalkeeper kept Wilmington's lead from getting any larger.

Two goals were scored by Darryl Plimpton, one unassisted and the other set up by the passing of Bill Covino.

The other score was off the foot of Mark DiGiovanni who picked up a missed Wilmington shot, took the ball away from a defender and put the ball into the right side of the goal.

Most impressive was the passing and team play by many of the Wilmington players, including Nick Athanassiou, Dan Bennett, Tom Casella, Tom Heigham, Dennis Ingram, Adam Vogel and Dave Ward.

Wilmington boys shine

Recently 13 Wilmington boys attended the Bentley All-Star Basketball Camp on the campus of Bentley College in Waltham.

The high school boys who attended were Keith Audette, David Caccamesi, Patrick Cahill, Brian Carroll, David DeSantis, Eric Froton, Paul Heigham, Jay Iannacchino, Dan King, Mike LaCorcia, Douglas Qlender,Robert Parker and Marc Trinchera.

During the week the boys competed in three games per day along with receiving fundamental instructions from some of the areas local high school and college coaches.

At the end of the week some of the Wilmington boys were selected for various team and individual awards. These awards were presented by Bentley Athletic Director Al Shields and Bentley, basketball coach Frank Sullivan.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

Oh, Holy Spirit, Thou who art all knowing, who brightens every path that I may reach my ideal. Thou who giveth me the divine gift of forgiving and forgetting wrongs done unto me and who in every instant of my life art with me. I'd like in this short dialogue to affirm my gratitude for all your blessings and reaffirm once again that I never want to part from Thee though the illusion of material things abound. My desire is to be with Thee and all my loved ones in perpetual grace. Thank You for Your mercy on me and mine. (Person should pray three consecutive days without revealing petition. Within three days grace will be attained regardless of how difficult the petition may be. Publish this prayer, once grace attained.) Grateful for Grace attained.

Bodybuilding championships

The date for the 1990 AAU Mr./Ms. Merrimack Valley Classic bodybuilding championships has been changed to Sunday, October 28. The competition will be held at the Dracut High School Auditorium at 1 p.m. It is presented by Ally Enterprises and Dr. Fitness.

The competitors must check in on Sunday, October 28 by noon, with pre-judging and finals combined beginning at 1 p.m. Ticket prices are $15 for VIP seats and $10 general admission.

The major sponsor of this year's competition is Dr. Fitness of Nashua, N.H., one of the most complete high energy fitness centers in the Merrimack Valley.

Once again the Merrimack Valley Classics promises to offer a day of exciting competition. This event is an excellent opportunity for athletes to compete in a first rate AAU bodybuilding competition. For further information contact: Ally Enterprises, PO Box 675, Dracut, MA 01826.

Redmen ready for Hillies The Tewksbury High School junior varsity defense reacts against Andover. Tewksbury's young players should see plenty of playing time should the offense put up big numbers against Haverhill Saturday.

been hard to figure out, but no way two Vike losses at home in a row.

N.E. 24 Seattle 21

I promise not to pick them again (until Indy at home) if they lose this one.

Tampa Bay 27 Dallas 23

Ray Perkins is looking like a genius these days, but can his team ride the wave in December?

Houston 35 San Fran. 31

The way this year has been going, I need to take two upsets a week to have any chance. Here's one.

L.A. Rams 30 Cincinnati 28

....and here's the other. The Rams need this one, and I think they will rise to the occasion.

Buffalo 20 L.A. Raiders 17

All the undefeated teams have to lose sometime.

Chicago 23 G.B. 22

Get primed for a possible upset here. The Bears have been winning with mirrors and defense. They better watch out.

Atlanta 31 N.O. 20

The Saints finally have a QB, but he'll need time to adjust. Meanwhile, the Falcons need to be careful not to look ahead to the S.F. rematch next week.

San Diego 20 Pittsburgh 15

Best sign of the week was in reference to Offensive Coordinator Joe Walton: "Hey J-E! Where's the O?"

N.Y. Jets 41 Miami 38

If the Jets can bottle up last week's performance they'll be all set. Problem being, it's not N.E. this week.

K.C. 17 Indianapolis 9

How Indy beats Philly, at the Vet, is beyond me. Not again versus a strong K.C. team.

Denver 35 Cleveland 13

Seeing Cleveland can't win a big game against the Broncos, I have no choice.

Last week: 4-8 outright; 6-6 vs. the spread. 25-29 overall on the season.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

Premises: Lots 10,11, 12, 13 Alabama Road, Tewksbury, MA 01876

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by David M. Sheehan to Butler Bank said mortgage dated January 10, 1990, and registered with the Middlesex County Registry District (North) as document number 130046 and noted on certificate of title number 29152, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions in said mortgage contained and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction at 1:00 p.m. on October 25, 1990 upon the mortgaged premises at Lots 10, 11, 12, 13 Alabama Road, Tewksbury, MA, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage, to wit:

That certain parcel of land situate in Tewksbury in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, bounded and described as follows:

SOUTHWESTERLY: by the Northeasterly line of Alabama Road, one hundred (100) feet;

NORTHWESTERLY; by Lot 8, ninety (90) feet;

NORTHEASTERLY: by land now or formerly of Robert J. Crispo, one hundred (100) feet; and SOUTHEASTERLY: by land of Owner Unknown, ninety (90) feet.

All said boundaries are determined by the Land Court to be located as shown on plan 33952-A, drawn by Armand E. Provost, Jr., Surveyor, dated July 16, 1965, as modified and approved by the Court, filed in the Land Registration Office, a copy of a portion of which is filed with certificate of title 15397, and said land is shown as Lots ten (10) to thirteen (13) inclusive on said plan.

Being the same premises conveyed to the mortgagor by deed of Eric Murray, dated January 10, 1990, recorded just prior to this mortgage.

The description set forth in the mortgage instrument varies from the description of the deed into the mortgagor. That portion of the metes and bounds description in the deed beginning with the word "NORTHWESTERLY: " continues and says "by Lot 9." The same line in the mortgage says "by Lot 8.," which is believed to be a scrivener's error.

TERMS OF SALE: Said premises will be sold subject to as above and to all restrictions, easements, improvements, outstanding tax titles, municipal and public taxes, assessments, liens or claims in the nature of liens, and existing encumbrances of record if there be any, and all encumbrances of record which are prior to said mortgage.

Purchaser will be responsible for all closing costs, state documentary stamps, and recording fees.

Five Thousand and 00/100 ($5,000.00) Dollars of the purchase price must be paid in cash, certified check, bank treasurer's or cashier's check at the time and place of the sale by the purchaser and the balance of the purchase price shall be paid in cash, certified check, bank treasurer's or cashier's check within thirty (30) days after the date of sale.

Other terms to be announced at the sale.

Plenty of playing time

Tewksbury's young players like Jay Mackey and Mike Roux (56) could be factors before the season is over. The Redmen host Haverhill Saturday in a battle of the unbeatens.

Walsh dives for pass

Wildcat senior Dennis Walsh dives for this John O'Reilly pass early in the third quarter at Haverhill. At this point Wilmington trailed only 13-12, but the home squad scored 14 second half points to put the game away.

Outdoors column

Book ahead for the Last Resort

by Bill Conlon

Back when my hair was short, in my U.S. Air Force days, we had a poster with our motto in the base's Disaster Preparedness office: "If you fail to prepare, you prepare to fail."

Another motto was "Plan for the worst and hope for the best." Both mottoes make sense.

Our job in Disaster Preparedness was to keep the base open and fully function under the worst conditions imagineable, from bad weather to a full-fledged nuclear missile attack. We were the Last Resort.

Disaster (literally "bad star" in Latin) Preparedness.

Being ready for the worst.

Having what you need, when you absolutely have to have it.

Those of us who take to the woods and fields, in particular, should be ready for anything. Are you?

No, no, no. Ask yourself again. Are you honestly prepared?

Do you maintain a full change of clothes in your car? No? Amazing. It doesn't take up much room, and it's an absolute must if you get we You can die of hypothermia, cold and shivering, for lack of those old clothes in your bottom drawer.

Sure, you've got plenty of tackle and flotation cushions in the boat, but how about a cigarette lighter, in case you get blown onto a deserted shoreline with night coming on? Non-smokers never have a lighter.

Think about it. How prepared are you for a visit to the Last Resort?

How much room would a couple of cans of food take up in a boat?

Does your vehicle, boat or car, have what we humorously called an "Oklahoma Credit Card," a six-foot length of common garden hose, for siphoning fuel?

You've got a nifty compass and a good knife. Fine. How skilled are you in using both? Can you chart a walking course around a mountain? Can you build a lean-to in the dark? Knowledge and training is the first and foremost preparation for any type of problem. Learn!

How about a first-aid kit that is equipped to handle a gunshot, not just a fancy box of old Band-aids? A friend of mine once had bullets pinging off the rocks around him in the Utah mountains, but there was nobody shooting that he could see, or even the sound of gunshots. He was doomed if one of the slugs had struck home.

Anything can happen, at any time, and always when you least expect it. Naturally, if you expected to spend a night in the woods you might have taken along blankets, a lantern and a box of food. Finding yourself in extremis is just too late.

Say your car conks out on the way to deer camp, on a road that sees six vehicles a month at the very height of the tourist season. Suddenly you land in a world of hurt.

Boating, in particular, carries all sorts of hazards. Puttering around a lake full of tourists is safe enough, provided you avoid on-board fire, unlike that poor soul who burned to the waterline on the Merrimack this past summer. But how about a big lake, or the ocean. If the weather turns, or your motor dies, you're in deep sneakers mighty quick.

You might get blown straight into a marina with a vacant motel, but I wouldn't count on it. Instead, think of spending the night on a rock, praying that the tide is all the way in NOW, and not in five hours.

Put yourself into the worst status possible, in your mind. Pick one, and keep in mind the next outing you plan to make, such as hunting. Maybe you slid off an empty road into a snowbank. Stuck on a barren rock with a Nor'easter blowing and the boat in bits. Lost in a swamp at night. Washed downstream while the rest of the float-trippers are asleep.

Now make a wish. What is it that you would most want to have in hand, right now? An inflatable raft, or dry clothes? A pack of flares, a two-way radio and a good blanket, or food?

Part three, and this is the fun part, ask yourself if you can you stock those things into your boat or car today. It probably won't cost much to set aside these handy items, and it's the ultimate insurance policy.

Stock up now for your visit to the Last Resort. Sooner or later, you'll be lost in a swamp at night, or alone on the ocean, or stuck in the snow. It happens to everybody, sooner or later, and always unexpectedly.

Hopefully you won't be staying there long.

Oh, and make sure you have good medical insurance, too. When the chips are all down, medical coverage does things that nothing else can do.

And let's be careful out there ...

Bay State antlerless deer ("doe") permits will be drawn on October 10, at the Danvers Fish & Game club, Birch Road, Middleton, at 10 a.m. Over 10,000 permits will be handed out, but 37,700 sent in their applications. Out of those who get antlerless permits, the state figures that only 19 percent will fill them.

Donations were made to start up the new Wildlands account, which was signed into law on June 13. At the start of the new year, a Wildlands stamp will be printed onto all licenses to hunt, fish or trap in Massachusetts, and anybody who buys a license will be required to pay an extra $5 for the stamp, with proceeds going to buy "wildlands."

Angler in training

Brian Macy, age 4, obviously enjoyed a recent Greater Lowell Aquatic Resources Program learn-to-fish seminar, held on Ames Pond, Tewksbury. The free fishing class was conducted by AREP, as part of the MetLife outdoors series.

Thanks Angels for a great season

Thank you Angels,

For your very nice and generous gift and for four fun-filled seasons. You're all champions. Hard work and dedication really do pay off. A special thanks to Darlene, Jackie and Nicole who endured through all four seasons.

Remember our three special words and each of you will be an ace throughout life.

Thanks again,
Mr. T

Reading Rotary's first

She's 'Ms. President'

By PHYLLIS NISSEN

If you fancy the New England Patriots opting for an attitude transplant re their approach to women, consider exposing them to a Rotary drill.

The Reading Rotary Club opened its doors to women about three and a half years ago with nary a skirmish, scuffle or scowl - and just inducted its seventh sister, under 1990-91 President - and Reading Public Library Director - Susan Flannery.

"When a colleague of mine," she says, "a member of the Salem Rotary Club, found out I was going to be president of the Reading club, he said, 'See, what they said was going to happen is already happening.'

"And I asked, 'What's that?'

"And he said, 'You let women in and they just take over.'

Seeing both the humorous and not-so-funny aspects of her friend's teasing, Flannery says, "I think some people are afraid of 'women taking over' and I certainly don't think that's a valid fear - but a number of clubs do not have women members and do not appear to be interested in having women members."

Rotary District 793 covers 41 towns in the northwest suburban area, including Burlington, Lynnfield, North Reading, Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield, Wilmington, Winchester, and Woburn. Three of those 41 clubs - East Boston, Hyde Park and Reading - have women presidents. The Tewksbury Rotary Club, in a neighboring district, is another story.

"The Reading Rotary Club has been extremely receptive to women," says Flannery. "During the first full year that women were invited to join, there were two on the board of directors - which says a lot about how open-minded and receptive Reading Rotary is to new members, regardless of whether they're male or female."

According to Flannery, Rotary is always looking for new members, especially those willing to put time into community and club. Although club members usually extend the first membership invitations, they are open to everyone who approaches them.

"Rotary requires that members' businesses be in Reading or in a contiguous town, unless, of course, they live in a community not served by a club," she says. "About half our members live in Reading."

Most Reading Rotary members live in the greater Middlesex East area - in towns such as Tewksbury, Chelmsford, Ipswich, Andover, Stoneham, Melrose, and Reading, with some retired members and former presidents as far away as West Palm Beach, Florida.

"When I first joined, I didn't know what to expect and I was very pleased to feel that I was treated just like everybody else, like a regular member - which I was," says Flannery. "That's so important.

"Women don't want to be treated differently.

"They want to be treated the same, and Reading club members have done that quite well. It may be why the club has so many women members."

Flannery would probably be the last to admit that her meteoric rise to the presidency has everything to do with her, and nothing to do with her gender.

As program chairperson last year, she and the ever-mischievous Arnold Berger arranged for a member of Rotary International to speak to the club about attendance at meetings.

That is, she told the club to expect a guest from Rotary International.

"Arnold and I secretly hired David Fitzgerald who is a local comedian," she says. "He went through a list of all the members, and came in and did a hilarious, facetious routine on poor attendance at the club."

Attendance - until that point anyway - had not been Reading Rotary's strong suit.

"He came up with great material on our members," says Flannery. "Something really funny about each one, and then he razzed the people who didn't have great attendance."

As for the people who'd never missed a meeting, he had only one thing to say: "Get a life!"

""It was a way of saying some significant things about the importance of being at meetings but in a really funny way," she says. "It really went over well - David Fitzgerald was great."

Accomplishing two goals at once is old hat to Flannery who is on top of the Reading Library budget, books and innovative inside fundraisers ranging from making "bookends" meet to library supporters giving library books as Christmas presents, library staff portraying great "presents of mind" through a highly visible wish list, and the director herself overseeing several other creative ventures within the Reading community ... including the Friends of the Library's fall Tupperware party.

Obviously a woman's touch at play here.

Rotary speaker Ben Strohecker of Harbor Sweets in Salem is another example of Flannery's ability to handle serious situations

FLANNERY TO S-4

HAVING BEEN INVITED to join the Reading Rotary Club a scant three years ago, Reading Library Director Susan Flannery quickly rose through the ranks of newsletter editor and president-elect-program chairperson to become that club's first woman president. Is this an example of women taking over or of cream rising to the top? (Don Young photo)

ROVING — dan ferullo

David had worked that night. He had made plans to meet Pauline late, back at her aunt's house. Pauline had made plans to attend her tenth class reunion alone. This didn't bother her, since she had been popular in high school, and knew most of the people who would be in attendance. Secretly, David felt the reunion would be a good test for Pauline: She hadn't been out alone in a social arena in nearly two months, and if she were going to drink, or partake in any substance abuse, this would be the occasion. Of course, David hoped that she wouldn't, but he realized he wasn't her guardian. It would be up to Pauline to be responsible for her own actions.

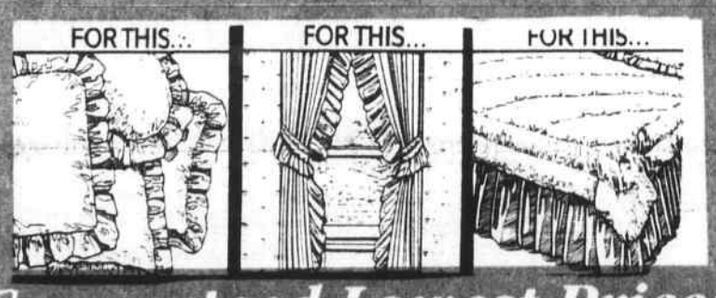

David arrived at Pauline's aunt's house at one-thirty in the morning. The door had been left open for him, and he crept softly up to Pauline's room, making sure that he didn't disturb her aunt, who enjoyed falling asleep on the living room couch, in front of the tv, which often times remained on long after she fell asleep.

As David ascended the carpeted staircase, he hoped he would find Pauline already home, perhaps even awake and waiting for him. That hope was dashed the instant he entered her pitch-black room. He switched on a light, and saw instantly that the room had been undisturbed for hours. A handful of make-up items and a hair dryer rested in a state of disarray on the top of Pauline's bureau. The room still faintly smelled of Pauline's expensive French perfume. Her closet door remained opened, revealing evidence that she had tried on several outfits before finding the right one to wear to the reunion.

David prepared to retire, turning off the light just before crawl-

Giant Pumpkin Weigh Off at Topsfield Fair on Monday

Topsfield Fair will conduct the seventh annual New England Giant Pumpkin Weigh-Off on Monday, October 8, Columbus Day, beginning at 10:30 a.m. in the Essex County Barnyard on the Topsfield Fairgrounds. Pumpkins will begin arriving at 9 a.m. and the official weighing procedure will follow.

The contest is sponsored by the Topsfield Fair and will offer awards totaling $2,500 to the top 11 growers from all entries throughout the New England states. Last years' largest entry was submitted by Wayne Hackney of New Milford, Connecticut weighing 614 pounds. Word from Connecticut is that a 600 pound plus entry is on the way, but this report couldn't be confirmed!

Al Craig, manager of Topsfield Fair, said "The Giant Pumpkin Weigh-Off has become a tradition here since its inception in 1983. We look forward to the event every year as a highlight. Many of the region's pumpkin growers have been exhibiting their prize-winning specimens here for decades."

Anyone interested in entering may call Hugh Wiberg at (508) 658-5852. Official entry forms must be submitted at least two hours prior to the weigh-in.

A COLLECTION OF MARIONETTES who will be appearing in the Sorcerer's Apprentice at the Stoneham High School on October 12. The proceeds from the performance fund the public schools' enrichment program.

This Friday night

Sorcerer's Apprentice in Stoneham

Delight in the machinations of the colorful National Marionette Theatre puppets who will be appearing in the Sorcerer's Apprentice at the Stoneham High School Auditorium on Friday, October 12 at 7 p.m.

This famous "tone poem," by Paul Dukas, has thrilled concert goers for years. Audiences that have seen Walt Disney's Fantasia will remember Mickey Mouse as the lazy apprentice who used magic to do his work. This original adaptation tells the story of an evil Sorcerer, who practices "black magic," and his young innocent apprentice. As the story unfolds, the young apprentice-magician discovers that he possesses tremendous powers of his own - "white magic." The stage is then set for a battle between good and evil with good being triumphant! Mixed into this delightful creation is a princess who is thought to be a sorceress, a magic cauldron with a wicked sense of humor, an oracle imprisoned in a crystal and a delightful baby dragon named Squeeker. It is exciting for the eye as well as the ear.

The National Marionette Theatre has been in existence for thirty years, performing their award winning adult and family theatre productions, in art centers throughout the USA and Europe.

Tickets are $4. To be assured of seating, purchase your tickets in advance by calling (617) 665-3631. The proceeds from the performance fund enrichment programs for all elementary school children.

What a delightful Halloween treat for the entire family!

About the Towns

By PHYLLIS NISSEN

HOW DEPENDENT IS YOUR TOWN ON STATE AID? The Executive Office of Administration and Finance has provided the following data on Middlesex East communities: state aid comprises 12.1% of Burlington's budget; 13.9% of Lynnfield's; 17.4% of North Reading's; 15.9% of Reading's; 19.7% of Stoneham's; 23.1% of Tewksbury's; 18.6% of Wakefield's; 19.2% of Wilmington's; 8.8% of Winchester's; and 18.6% of Woburn's.

STONEHAM - Stoneham resident Robert Werlin is the new chairman of the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities, a $4 million-budget, 130-employee agency.

As such, he will face issues such as the formulation of DPU rules for its integrated resource management proposal under which it will, for the first time, place a price tag on the health and pollution effects of utility operations, denying rate increases to companies that do not include environmental programs in their operations.

The DPU sets consumer electricity, gas and water rates; regulates state utility operating practices; and is responsible for regulating bus companies, commercial vehicles and to some extent, railroads.

WINCHESTER - The Winchester Library now subscribes to the National Business Employment Weekly, a 60-page tabloid containing hundreds of advertisements for employment opportunities in American and foreign companies.

Twice a year, the Weekly offers a college supplement aimed at new graduates.

WILMINGTON - According to the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce's Sandy Murphy, Director of Member-Services, no town bordering Wilmington has a local Chamber of Commerce.

Founded in 1961, the Wilmington Chamber - this year, under President A. Materas, Textron Director of Human Services - boasts a growing membership of over 200 businesses and proprietorships, all banding

ROVING

ing into bed. He tried to sleep, but a thick column of bright moonlight, which shined through the window closest to the bed, helped to keep him awake. The fact that Pauline had not yet returned home also bothered him. He found himself frequently glimpsing the red numbers on the digital clock on the night table beside the bed. It was nearly four a.m., and still no sign of Pauline.

He heard the door open gently, and the bright light from the window revealed Pauline's aunt standing there. When she realized that David was awake, she flipped on the hall light. She now stood silhouetted in front of the bright light behind her.

"Pauline's still not home?" she inquired.

"No," David said. "I thought you might have gotten a call from her, but I didn't want to wake you."

Her aunt said no, that she hadn't heard from Pauline. She didn't have to say another word. David sensed that she, too, was wondering the same thing: What would keep Pauline up all night like this? David hoped the answer wasn't drugs.

"I just hope she isn't doing something she shouldn't be," said David.

"Goodness, I hope so, too."

Then she said goodnight, switched off the light, and disappeared, closing the door behind her. David remained awake till the first sign of dawn appeared outside the windows. Finally, he drifted off into an uneasy sleep.

He awoke at a little after ten. The first thing he did was check to see if Pauline had slipped into the room after he'd fallen asleep. She hadn't and this bothered him deeply. He decided to get up and dress. He threw the bed together, and went downstairs. Pauline's aunt's bedroom door was closed, and he thought it best not to wake her to tell her that he was leaving. She'd discover that for herself when she got up. As for Pauline, he would deal with her later. She would have a lot of explaining to do.

Just before noon, David received a call at home from Pauline. She sounded tired, and she immediately apologized for not coming home the night before.

"I hope it was worth it," David said.

She insisted that she had done nothing wrong: She had had a couple of drinks at the reunion, then went to somebody's house for the after-reunion party. She said they'd stayed up all night, reminiscing about "the good old days." She promised that she hadn't done drugs to keep awake.

"If everything was so innocent," David remarked, "why didn't you call to let your aunt and me know where you were?"

"I got so caught up in talking about old times that I forgot," she said. "When I finally remembered to call, it was too late. I didn't want to wake you."

David felt a tinge of anger, but then it began to dissipate once she apologized. He thought, I may be a fool, but I'm going to believe her.

For the next couple of weeks, while Pauline prepared to start cosmetology school at Essex Agricultural Institute, in Middleton, things went smoothly in their relationship. She continued to work, and on a couple of occasions she visited with her children.

Then, soon after Pauline began school, she exhibited another sign of recurring instability. She again stayed out all night long. This time she had no convincing excuse, and along with yet another apology, came marked insistence that she had not been out drinking heavily or using cocaine. David felt torn: He didn't want to be made a fool of, yet he was reluctant at this point to simply walk away. Pauline had convinced him that she truly needed his support to see her way through these difficult times. David had not seen her drink heavily at any time that they were together, and he never once saw her use an illegal substance: He decided he would continue to remain with Pauline. He swore to himself that if she ever pulled another all-nighter, he would walk out of her life for good.

Only a couple of weeks passed before Pauline fouled up one more time: She failed to return to her aunt's for the third time. The next morning she phoned David to tell him what had become all-too-familiar excuses and apologies. She once again insisted that she wasn't using drugs, yet David was convinced that she couldn't be staying out all night long on three different occasions without some form of stimulant to help keep her awake. Even if she hadn't used drugs, David was finally fed up with Pauline not returning home at night. He told her he didn't want to see her anymore. The receiver was returned to its cradle, and with it went the final moments of his and Pauline's turbulent relationship.

Through Pauline's aunt, David learned that, a short time later, she and Pauline's relationship had become tense, and that Pauline finally moved into a girl friend's apartment in Amesbury. She had a ride to school every day, but she had quit her job at the restaurant. Pauline's aunt feared that the children would go long stretches of time without seeing their mother.

"What I'm afraid of," her aunt had said over the phone on an occasion, "is that this would jeopardize her chances of getting those kids back on a permanent basis."

As important as that issue was, what bothered David was something else: He sensed that Pauline had moved to Amesbury for another reason. He wasn't sure of what that reason was; he simply had a gut feeling.

Several weeks later, another call from Pauline's aunt verified that his intuition has been correct: There was something else that had drawn Pauline to Amesbury, Massachusetts. Her aunt explained it during that phone conversation.

"I don't know how much Pauline told you about Amesbury," she began, "but there's a lot more than what she probably told you. She and her husband and the kids lived there when they were together. Then after the split-up, Pauline moved into an apartment with the kids.

"She met this guy - his name is Rick. Rick is one bad character. He's a drug dealer and a drug user. He almost never works. Pauline started seeing him, and it was Rick who got her hooked on drugs. I'm worried that she's up in Amesbury, seeing that guy again. If she is, then she is most likely using drugs again. If her ex-husband finds out, she'll never see those kids again. They're supposed to be going to court in December to straighten out the custody issue. If he thinks Pauline's on drugs, she'll never have a chance to get those children back in her custody again."

David asked her what she thought he should do about it, reminding her that he hadn't been involved with Pauline for weeks.

"I just think you should know that Rick beat Pauline once," her aunt said. "He beat her so badly that she ended up in the hospital. Her father swore that if he ever met up with Rick, he'd shoot him. I believe him. I've got a phone number where Pauline is supposedly living. I just thought you might want to call her, just to see how she's doing."

David admitted that he missed Pauline, in spite of all the wrong things he had allowed her to do to him. Things that he had allowed to happen prior to the time he finally put his foot down. He thought it over, and agreed to take the number and call Pauline.

What he didn't realize was that that phone call would open a door to an even greater nightmare than he'd already been through.

She's 'Ms. President'

with a light touch. "He took a sabbatical for a year to help raise money for the aid and comfort of AIDS patients, for hospices and services," says Flannery. "He talked a lot about his responsibilities as a business person and about how he, an Episcopalian who had never met anyone with AIDS, became motivated to devote a year of his life to publicizing that disease. Today, long after that year ended, he is one of the most successful fundraisers in this state for AIDS awareness.

"He made our business community see that AIDS is not limited to certain undesirable population groups, how it really affects all our lives and why we need to get involved.

"He was awfully good - and he also brought us free samples of his famous candy."

Obviously an example of sweets to the sweet.

Flannery's timing is impeccable. "As program chairperson, I tried to look at topics that were in the news or seemed to be issues we were trying to deal with as a society or culture, contact organizations dealing with those issues, and get speakers based on them. Rotary really values international relations and understanding so I tried to bring in speakers with an international flavor."

At her invitation, the Japanese Consul on Economic Affairs addressed club members about Japanese-American trade relations. "Japanese trade is a very big issue and the controversy about a book very critical of economic policies erupted the very day after the consul came."

Obviously a case of lady luck.

"I still think, generally, men think women want a lot more attention at 'being first' than women really do," she says. "Women want to treat it like it's a normal course of events, and men want to make it into a really big deal. Then the men who resent the fact that women are doing this get all bent out of shape that 'women are getting all this attention for being first and what in the world are they doing?'

"In the long run, it hurts women to be treated differently."

Flannery's pitching skills are incredible. Before her reign as president-elect and program chair with its attendant line-up of awesome speakers, she aptly edited Reading Rotary's newsletter, "The Nut." As a speaker herself, she displays an uncanny ability to shoot straight, accompanied by a quick wit which often hits home.

Obviously feminine wiles at work.

"We were at a Rotary Club meeting one day, and they were talking about a district softball league and wanted to know if I would play on their league," she says.

"I said, 'No, I'm not a very good softball player.'

"They said, 'Well, neither are we.'

"I told them that when they play softball, they're playing softball for themselves. When I play softball, I'm playing softball for every woman who ever lived.

"If I'm lousy at softball, the implication to some people is that all women are lousy at softball," she continues. "If a man is lousy at softball, no one thinks anything of it. They don't make generalizations based on that - and that's where you have to be careful.

"We're not looking for special treatment. We're looking for equal treatment - that's the most important thing.

"The more women are treated like everybody else, the better off we are."

Why all this chitchat about women and softball when the focus could be on Rotary and its outstanding record of service in local, state and international circles?

Because Reading Rotary's charities, solid support of education, local and international scholarships, annual road race, upcoming recycling project, unique junk mail campaign, and internal operations are topics worthy of a much more serious study.

Why all the girl talk about women and softball?

Because Susan Flannery, Reading Rotary's first woman president, is a good sport.

Cholesterol screenings at Winchester

Why should your cholesterol level be checked? Because cholesterol has been linked to heart disease, the leading cause of death in the U.S. and because one in every three Americans over the age of 20 has a cholesterol level high enough to require medical treatment.

How often should your cholesterol level be checked? At least once a year. And if your cholesterol level is high, you should be screened at least every six months.

Winchester Hospital is offering cholesterol screenings to the public on October 10th from 4 to 8 p.m., and continues to offer screenings the second Wednesday of each month. For prices and further information, call the Education Department at Winchester Hospital (617) 756-2220.

Seasonal crops are available at many orchards and farms offering pick-your-own opportunities. Determine your destination one sun-drenched autumn day by consulting lists of pick-your-own apples posted on the consumer bulletin board at the Beebe Library.

The excursion offers a delightful outing for the entire family, as well as a chance to save on the grocery bill. The harvest awaits and the lists are posted at the Beebe Library.

HYPNOSIS FOR HABIT CONTROL

Hypnosis for Habit Control: An Overview will be held at Melrose-Wakefield Hospital's Perkins Lecture Hall on Monday, October 1 at 7:30 p.m. This free lecture by Dr. Leonard LaBua will discuss how hypnosis can be used to help rid yourself of unwanted habits. Pre-registration is required by calling Dr. LaBua's office at (617) 665-9300.

Dr. LaBua will also be holding three additional programs, each focusing on a particular problem, at a cost of $50 each. The three programs are Smoking Cessation on October 4, Weight Control on November 14 and Fear of Flying on December 11. Pre-register by calling Dr. LaBua's office.

BREASTFEEDING SUPPORT GROUP AT NEMH

Nursing mothers often have questions about breastfeeding after being discharged from the hospital. Many also seek support from other nursing mothers. To answer these needs and to help women continue breastfeeding, the Rigsby Maternity Center at New England Memorial Hospital (NEMH), Stoneham, is offering a new, free program, the "Breastfeeding Support Group."

Mary Foley, R.N., a certified lactation consultant, provides professional advice and enables nursing mothers to meet and share experiences. Mothers, babies, partners and friends are welcome to attend.

The group meets on the last Friday of every month from 10 a.m. to noon in function room #2 in the hospital cafeteria. The next session will be on September 28. There is no need to register in advance. For additional information call (617) 979-7011.

The Rigsby Maternity Center combines the latest in childbirthing facilities and technology with NEMH's longstanding tradition of innovative, family-centered and highly personalized maternity services. The Center features 16 private postpartum rooms, four nurseries, and seven private labor-delivery-recovery rooms all equipped with whirlpool baths.

INTERNATIONAL TEAM VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

ASSE International Student Exchange Programs is looking for volunteer Area Representative in your community. ASSE provides academic year exchange programs in the United States for students from Scandinavia, Germany, Switzerland, Great Britain, The Netherlands, Spain, France, New Zealand, Italy and Japan who are 15 to 18 years old and have met all academic and character qualifications.

ASSE Representatives help locate and screen prospective host families, interview students to study abroad, and supervise the visiting exchange students in their community. In return, Area Representatives will meet outstanding American and European teenagers and establish lasting friendships in their community and in Europe. Area Representatives are reimbursed for their expenses.

ASSE's primary goal is to contribute to international understanding through exchange programs enabling students to learn about other languages and cultures through active participation in family, school and community life.

For more information about this exciting and rewarding opportunity, please call Sue Anttila collect at (603) 880-0949 or call toll-free: 1-800-333-3802.

DEER PERMIT DRAWING SET

The 1990 drawing for antlerless deer hunting permits will be held on Wednesday, October 10 at the Danvers Fish and Game Club, Birch Road, Middleton. More than 10,000 permits will be issued to 37,700 sportsmen and women who have applied for permission to take a deer with no antlers or with antlers less than three inches during the upcoming deer seasons. Of the hunters who receive permits, Division biologists figure, based on data from previous years, that only 19% of the permit holders will actually take an antlerless deer.

Applications are divided among 14 deer management zones with applicants specifying their preference. For purposes of the drawing the applications are divided by zone and by the final digit of the license number. Sportsmen and women wishing to attend the drawing are invited to meet at Danvers Fish and Game Club at 10 a.m.

DATING VINTAGE PHOTOGRAPHS

The Photographic Historical Society of New England will present photographic historian and author, Laurie A. Baty, as the featured speaker at the Society's Sunday, October 7 meeting, 1:30 p.m. at the Memorial Library in Framingham.

The public is invited - free of charge - to view Ms. Baty's lively, informative, and original presentation revealing the secrets of identification and dating vintage photographs. Ms. Baty encourages the audience to bring old photographs for identification, dating and historical analysis.

Ms. Baty is a Grants Analyst for the national Historical Publications and Records Commission in Washington, D.C. Formerly a Smithsonian Institute Photo Archivist, she also served as Curator of Prints and Photographs at the Maryland Historical Society in Baltimore.

The Photographic Historical Society of New England meets at the Memorial Library on Oak Street. at Edgell Road in Framingham, one block north of Rte. 9 (Edgell Rd./Rte. 30 exit). For more information, contact Walter Friesendorf at (603) 654-6141 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

STONEHAM CHAMBER SENATORIAL DEBATE

Stoneham Chamber of Commerce President David Curtis (Competent Glass and Aluminum Corp.) cordially invites the public to join Chamber members at a breakfast meeting on Thursday, October 11 at New England Memorial Hospital from 7:30 until 9 a.m.

• Invitations have been extended to all Senatorial candidates in the Third Middlesex District to participate in a debate which will be moderated by School Superintendent William Hoyt. The candidates are Michael Festa (Democrat), Paul Maisano (Independent) and Richard Tisei (Republican).

Reservations are required; $10 per person in advance; $13 at the door. Make reservations with the Chamber at 352A Main Street, P.O. Box 1, Stoneham, MA 02180 (617-438-0001). These reservations must be made NO LATER than Monday, October 8. No reservations will be accepted after that time.

The format for this debate will include time for the candidates to make both opening and closing statements and questions will be entertained from those in attendance, either written or from the floor.

CHRONIC-PAIN MANAGEMENT GROUP

People who suffer from chronic physical pain can learn specific ways to reduce their pain and distress in a new program offered by New England Memorial Hospital (NEMH), Stoneham. The "Chronic-Pain Management Group," one component of a new, comprehensive pain-treatment program, may be of help to anyone with chronic pain, including those with orthopedic injuries, arthritis, headaches, musculoskeletal pain or pain of unknown origin.

Group members will learn specific coping skills, including relaxation and stress management, pain reduction strategies, methods of altering negative thinking and approaches to lifestyle management. Participants will also gain support from others with similar problems and build coping abilities to apply to daily life.

The group will be led by Robert Miller, Ph.D., a member of the behavioral medicine program of the NEMH Department of Psychiatric Services and an instructor in psychology at Harvard Medical School.

The 10-week group will meet on Mondays from 6 to 7:15 p.m. beginning in October. Individual, pregroup interviews are now being conducted to determine eligibility. The group is covered by Medicaid and most insurance plans, including many health maintenance organizations (HMOs). For more information, or to register for the "Chronic-Pain Management Group," call Dr. Miller at (617) 979-7025.

PSYCHOLOGICAL TRAUMA CONFERENCE

"Understanding Psychological Trauma" will be the topic of a conference on Saturday, October 13, presented by Salem State College and Crisis Management Group, Inc., at the college.

The seminar, meeting from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., will provide an overview of post-traumatic stress conditions. Participants may earn CEUs: 7.2 for nurses, 5.5 for social workers and 7.2 for psychologist. For registration details, contact Jo Ann Mackey at the college's Divisions of Graduate and Continuing Education, (508) 741-6322.

Instructors from Crisis Management Group, located in Watertown, will be Mark Braverman, Ph.D., President, a licensed clinical psychologist; Susan Braverman, M.Ed., MSW, Vice President and Clinical Coordinator, a licensed clinical social worker; and David G. Doepel, B.D. (Hons.), Senior Consultant, who hold dual doctoral degrees in Theology and Pastoral Psychology from Boston University.

The program includes registration, 8 to 8:30 a.m.; welcoming remarks, 8:30 to 8:45 a.m.; introduction and videotape on "Understanding Psychological Trauma," followed by discussion, 8:45 to 10:30 a.m.; presentation on "Anatomy of Post Traumatic Stress, Range of Kinds of Trauma and Its Effects on Individuals, Families and Society," 10:45 a.m. to 12 noon; lunch (provided at the college), 12 noon to 1:15 p.m.

Professionals may attend two of four afternoon workshop sessions from 1:15 to 3:45 p.m. Workshop topics are "Relationship Between Trauma and Grief/Loss," "Assessment and Treatment Options," "Working with High-Risk Populations" (police, fire, EMT's, etc.); and "Second-Hand Trauma" The Effects of the Trauma on the Caregiver."

School Notes

by phyllis nissen

—In his 32 years of teaching, Reading's Coolidge Middle School science department head Jack Fasciano says he's never had a better, more cooperative, enthusiastic science department. Cheers to Connie Cherrington of Lynn, John Doherty of North Reading, Carolyn Howard of Winchester, and Reading's own Jack Fasciano.

--The Lynnfield School Committee has given preliminary approval to a 10-day high school art and photo trip to Greece, scheduled for April.

The four to five chaperones for the 45 students expected to sign up will include high school art teachers Karen Kohler and James Williams. The estimated per student trip cost is $1,325.

—The Cooperative College Fair was held Monday at the Americal Civic Center in Wakefield.

The annual fair features admissions representatives from 180 schools and colleges, and provides an excellent opportunity for parents, high school seniors and even juniors to learn about applications procedures, financial aid and grade requirements; to have any questions answered; and to collect a variety of college literature.

The fair which originated in Reading was not held there this year because of budgetary constraints.

—North Reading teachers initiated the following report card changes which have been approved by the School Committee.

Elementary marking periods have been reduced from four to three; the space allocated for teacher comments on the cards has been reduced "significantly"; and minor revisions in grading have been made.

On the secondary level, junior high report cards will have an optional comment section and high school report cards will show mid-term and final exam grades.

—Speaking of report cards, the Burlington School Committee has rated Robert Neely, its superintendent of one year, "above average."

The committee praised him for starting a long-term planning process; strengthening graduation requirements; hiring a director of curriculum and instruction to fill the assistant superintendent position, thereby strengthening the curriculum revision process and saving money; contributing toward a smooth budget process; spreading enthusiasm; and improving morale.

The superintendent's "report card" consisted of 51 items divided into seven areas: leadership, staff personnel management, education and financial management, student enyironment management, community-public relations, relationship with school committee, and a section for written comments and concerns.

MOVIES

"Pacific Heights"

by Rochelle Flynn

"Pacific Heights" Starring Melanie Griffith, Matthew Modine, Michael Keaton. Directed by John Schlesinger. Written by Daniel Pyne. Produced by Scott Rudin, William Sackheim. Rated R.

Someone is in the house. Someone we don't want there. This is a very basic fear most of us have experienced on one level or another. Writer Daniel Pyne came up with a tremendous twist to that old chestnut. The someone in the house is your tenant and he's not out to get you, just your property. Unless, of course, you happen to get in the way.

Melanie Griffith and Matthew Modine play a young San Franciscan couple who decide to take the ultimate step together. No, not get married. These days there is much more commitment in buying a house. The two sink everything they have into a gorgeous Victorian that they lovingly restore. In order to meet the mortgage payments, they must rent out the two downstairs units, keeping the top floor for themselves.

No problem with rear unit, a quiet Japanese couple prove to be ideal tenants. It is when Michael Keaton moves into the studio that this white clapboard building could be renamed the Heartbreak House.

Keaton is a crafty, intelligent psychopath who preys on the couple's naivete and innate trust. He also knows the law is structured to protect tenants, not landlords. The idea is to egg the owners on until they crack, allowing Keaton to sue them for civil damages and go after the property as a settlement.

Well, it's a bit more complicated and insidious than that, but you get the picture. This brilliant, believable plot is molded into a heart-pounding thriller under the guiding hand of director John Schlesinger. With the exception of one questionable scene in which Griffith knows Keaton is in the house but returns there alone, the film manages to slather on the suspense until we're white-knuckling our arm rests.

From the first scenes we sympathize with Griffith and Modine. They are nice, average people who simply want their slice of the American dream. We're drawn into a relationship that begins to warp under the strain of dealing with their wacko tenant.

While Modine is charismatic as the enraged victim, it is Griffith who has the stronger role. She's smart enough not to fall for Keaton's ploys and never gives into her anger as Modine does. Not only can she rewire a house and wield a staple gun, but Griffith's character is braver and more resourceful than Modine's.

Of course, none of this would have meshed without Keaton, whose dark performance is especially menacing because of its understatement. This guy never screams or threatens or loses control. Keaton's scariest moment is so subtle you almost miss it. He's just taken a beating, something he often endures in his line of work. As the blood streams down his face, his lip curls into the barest of smiles. It's a cold and calculating moment in a brilliant performance.

Short Takes

Narrow Margin takes a tired theme and turns it into an exciting flick. Gene Hackman is a Los Angeles DA who coerces Anne Archer into returning from Canada to testify against a crime lord. The two of them take refuge on a train in order to evade the bad guys, who simply climb aboard right behind them. This game of cat and mouse may not be overly original, but it's enhanced by a rugged Northern landscape and a deft execution. Rated R. ***

Hardware is an awkward and ugly futuristic flick that looks like it was made for about $19.99. Writer/director Richard Stanley cribs from several sources, among them science fiction and grade Z monster movies. Added to a cheapo set and murky production values is a plot that offers absolutely nothing new. Rated R. *

Post Cards from the Edge has a tough, sassy veneer over a milk chocolate heart. Meryl Streep has never been more accessible than as this drug addict actress trying to get on the straight and narrow while dodging the obstacles thrown by Hollywood and her nutty mom. Shirley MacLaine sparkles as the mother, an eccentric egomaniac who really does love her daughter. Based on Carrie Fisher's novel, which is widely assumed to be autobiographical. Rated R.  1/2

Metropolitan is a subtle, witty love story that satirizes the "doomed" elite of Manhattan. The focus is a group of guys and gals making the round of parties and balls during Christmas week, that time of year when debutantes are on the prowl. Director/writer Whit

What's Doing

—An Arts & Entertainment Update—

THE NANTUCKET CRANBERRY HARVEST

In recognition of the island's venerable native fruit, a Nantucket Cranberry Harvest open house is being planned for the weekend of October 12-14, which coincides with peak harvest time. Northland Cranberries, Inc., operator of the island's bogs, has received permission from the Nantucket Conservation Foundation, owner of the properties, to conduct educational tours with the assistance of Ocean Spray Cranberries, Inc. Demonstrations of old-fashioned and modern harvesting methods will take place and antique harvesting equipment will be displayed at the bog off Milestone Road. Complimentary buses to the site will be available on Saturday, October 13, and Sunday, October 14, leaving Nantucket Town on the hour from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The weekend will offer several other activities at in-town locations. On Friday evening, October 12, the Nantucket Lodging Association will conduct its second annual InnTour, featuring fifteen or so B&Bs and guest houses, ending with a reception at the Folger Hotel. InnTour is a benefit for Small Friends of Nantucket, a day-care center. During the weekend, restaurateurs and amateur cooks will offer baked goods and other dishes featuring the colorful, tart berry.

Information on travel to the island and accommodations available may be obtained by calling or writing the Nantucket Island Chamber of Commerce, Pacific Club Building, Nantucket, MA 02554; (508) 228-1700.

STRING QUARTET AT SANDERS THEATRE

The highly acclaimed New World String Quartet will present two concerts at Harvard University's Sanders Theatre during the 1990-91 concert season. The first concert will take place on Wednesday, October 17, at 8 p.m. with guest artist Ursula Oppens, piano. The program will include Sergey Prokofiev's String Quartet No. 1 in B-minor (1930, commissioned by the Library of Congress), Robert Schumann's Piano Quintet in E-flat Major, Opus 44 and the world premier of Daniel Brewbaker's String Quartet.

The New World String Quartet (NWSQ) combines old world elegance with new world intensity and vitality and enjoys an enviable popularity from coast to coast. Its members are Curtis Macomber and Vahn Armstrong, violins, Benjamin Simon, viola and Ross Harbaugh, cello.

Tickets for the October concert are $12 ($9 for students/elders), available after October 1 at Holyoke Center Ticket Office and Out of Town Tickets in Harvard Square, and through all Ticketron outlets.

CHAMBER ORCHESTRA IN LEXINGTON

Scott Wheeler, of North Reading, will conduct the chamber orchestra at the premiere performance of Many Moons, on Sunday, October 14, at 4:30 p.m. at the Follen Community Church, 755 Massachusetts Avenue, Lexington. Iris Graffman Wenglin will present this multi-media presentation, with music by Ruth Lomon, book by James Thurber. Ms. Wenglin has commissioned the composition in memory of her late husband, Shepard Wenglin of Lexington, who died too young after a long and honorable struggle with leukemia. Admission will be by donation. Wheelchair access is available through the side door (community center).

Mr. Wheeler, who is also Artistic Director of Dinosaur Annex, will conduct the chamber orchestra, which includes Charles Schlueter, Principal Trumpet of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

BOSTON BALLET OPENS 27TH SEASON

The Boston Premier of August Bournonville's "Arabian Nights" ballet Abdallah will open Boston Ballet's 1990/91 season October 11-21 at The Wang Center for the Performing Arts. This magical ballet is set to the music of Holger Simon Paulli, with scenery and costume design by Danish Artist Jens-Jacob Worsaae and lighting design by Craig Miller.

First produced in Copenhagen on March 28, 1855, this magical romance is filled with exotic characters - Sheik Ismail, Omar the slave, Palmyra and the lovers Abdallah and Irma. After Bournonville's death in 1879, the manuscript for Abdallah disappeared, not to resurface until 1971 when Bruce Marks discovered at auction a handwritten scenario that had belonged to the Bournonville family. The late ballerina Toni Lander Marks then discovered the existence of a notated copy of the original Paulli score.

Ticket prices are $48.75, $38.75, $32.75, $24.75, $19.75 and $10.75. All prices include a $.75 Wang Center Restoration Fee.

Curtain times: Thursday Opening Night - 7 p.m.; all other evenings - 8 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday matinees - 2 p.m.

For more information, please call Nina J. Berger, Associate Director of Public Relations, at (617) 964-4070, Ext. 238.

CHOWDER BRUNCH AND SHIP MODEL AWARDS

A chowder brunch and awards presentation will take place on Sunday, October 14, at 1 p.m. at the Custom House Maritime Museum. Rear Admiral Richard I. Rybacki, commander of the 1st Coast Guard District, will present awards to winners of seventy scale models representing ships from 200 years of Coast Guard history.

This event marks the end of a year long celebration of the Coast Guard Bicentennial and the end of the scale ship model exhibition. Admission to the brunch, which includes fish or clam chowder, dessert and coffee is $7 per person.

General admission to the museum and exhibits is $2 for adults, $1.50 seniors and $1 children. Open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday; 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday. 25 Water St., Newburyport

For more information contact Janet Howell, curator, (508) 462-8681.

MASKS IN THEATRE AT PUPPET SHOWCASE

"Disguise the Limit: Masks in Theater," an intriguing and varied exhibit of masks from American theater and from ancient and modern cultures, opens Sunday, October 14, at the Puppet Showplace Theatre, Brookline Village.

Masks, among the earliest forms of puppetry, have been found in numerous cultures for thousands of years, in ritual and in theatre.

This display of masks is an exciting visual experience for both kids and adults. "Disguise the Limit: Masks in Theater" can be seen at the Puppet Showplace Theatre, 32 Station Street, Brookline Village, October 14 through November 30, Tuesdays through Sundays at 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Fridays 7 to 9 p.m.; other times by appointment. Admission is free.

MENTAL ILLNESS AWARENESS WEEK

The Alliance For The Mentally Ill of Mass. and the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health will be sponsoring the annual Walk For Awareness on October 10 at 12 noon. Participants will meet at the Parkman Bandstand, Boston Common and walk to Doric Hall, State House for a presentation of awards and speakers. There will be a reception immediately following at Center Club, 31 Bowker St., Boston.

St. Patrick's Day in October

Get out the traditional Irish greens and get ready for the 9th Annual St. Patrick's Day in October sponsored by Neurofibromatosis, Inc. - Mass Bay Area at the Prince Restaurant in Saugus. The festive event to benefit research for the cause, cure and treatment of neurofibromatosis (NF), will be held on Wednesday, October 10 at 7 p.m.

St. Patrick's Day in October will feature pizza and drinks donated by Prince Restaurant owners Arthur and RoseMarie Castraberti, raffles, auction items, door prizes and a special raffle for a trip to Ireland for two. Music and entertainment will be provided by John Corcoran and his band.

The fabulous trip for two to Ireland has been prepared by Round Tower Travel of Norwood. The trip will include two free round trip tickets on a scheduled Aer Lingus 747 Jumbo Jet from Boston to Shannon; six days of free rental of a Ford Fiesta; and free accommodations and traditional Irish Breakfast at Town & Country Homes in Ireland with over 800 to choose from. Travel time may be extended at the winner's own expense and the trip must be taken between November 1, 1990 and October 31, 1991. Some travel restrictions do apply. Tickets for the special raffle will be sold during the evening at a cost of $5 each.

"St. Patrick's Day in October is always a special and exciting event," co-chairmen John and Kate Duff said. "We need your support to help us in the fight against NF."

Tickets for the October 10 event can be obtained at a cost of $15 per person by contacting the NF-M.B.A. at (617) 944-8414 or by sending a check payable to the NF-M.B.A. to 46 Bond Street, Reading, MA 01867.

Audubon announces new fall programs

The Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary in Topsfield is offering a number of programs and events in October for adults, families and children. Pre-registration is required. Programs this month include:

Vernal Pond Workshop - Thursday, October 4, 7 to 9 p.m. Vernal ponds are temporary pools that grow drier as summer progresses. In order to protect these endangered areas they must be mapped and certified. Conservation commissioners and laymen alike are encouraged to join us and learn the classification of, biological indicators and mapping techniques, as well as new legislation affecting these aquatic gems. Fee: $7 ($5/Massachusetts Audubon members).

Nature Detectives - Saturdays, October 6 and 20; November 3 and 17; 10 a.m. to noon. This series of nature classes for first and second graders will follow the progression of the fall season into winter, with a focus on such topics as fall wildflowers, seeds, minibeasts, birds and mammals preparing for winter. An introduction inside will be followed by a walk on the sanctuary. Crafts and hands-on activities will be part of the fun. Fee: $48 ($40/Massachusetts Audubon members).

An Inside Look at Weatherization - Sunday, October 7, 1 to 3 p.m. Join carpenter and energy specialist Greg Baruffi for a hands-on energy conservation workshop. Before the cold weather sets in, learn some simple and some not-so-simple techniques for reducing heat loss and cold air infiltration. Fee: $7, ($5/members).

Mrs. Essex County Pageant at Topsfield Fair

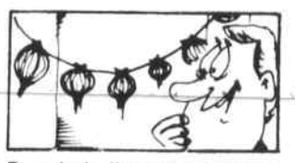

Topsfield Fair, the longest continuous running county fair in the U.S., will hold the 20th Annual Mrs. Essex County Pageant on Sunday, October 7. The pageant seeks all-around women, residents of Essex County who demonstrate that they are multi-dimensional through their life-styles, activities, associations and community involvement.

The new Mrs. Essex County should be a woman who lives life to its fullest. The contest is designed to afford recognition to an outstanding woman who enjoys her accomplishments both within the home and outside and is not designed to be a beauty contest.

Contestants will be judged in four areas: poise, personality, general appearance and preparation of an hors d'oeuvre food item. The food entry is to be brought to the Coolidge Building on the fairgrounds by 10 a.m. on Saturday, October 6.

Judging will follow and the winners will be announced at 2 p.m. Members of the pageant committee and former Mrs. Essex Countys. will have a booth in the Coolidge Building during the fair and will answer questions and provide entry forms.

Entry forms may also be obtained at the Topsfield Fair office at (508) 887-2212.

People believe if you hang a string of onions in your house, you will be healthy.

Drains Run Slow?
You'll never have a slow running, or clogged drain again! The secret? Clean drains don't run slow.
Slow drains, or periodic clogs, are SIGNALS that a thick layer of GOOK is choking your pipes. Grease, hair, and other waste stick to your pipes, with every use. This gook deposits along the entire length of the pipe. It chokes your pipes gradually, as it gets thicker and thicker.
Conventional drain openers can't fix slow drains. They react chemically on the surface of the gook. To be effective, they must remain in contact with the waste. Even a small tunnel through the gook lets them flow out to the sewer, leaving the gook behind.

In the past, the only way to remove this build-up was to rooter your pipes. An expensive, temporary measure.
Now, with just a few minutes each month, you can easily clean out your pipes... and KEEP them clean with Plumb Clean. Its totally unique formula clings, and penetrates deep into the gook. That is what allows it to liquefy even years of build-up. Plumb Clean will clean the entire length of your pipes. It will make your drains run like new, when used as directed. This penetrating action is so revolutionary, we stand behind Plumb Clean with a money-back guarantee!
Saves Money. A 1 lb. container of Plumb Clean holds up to 41 drain treatments. Even if drain openers could fix slow drains, it would take over 10 quart bottles to get the same number of treatments. Plumb Clean costs about 35¢ per treatment. We don't know of anything that cleans drains for less.
Safe Too. Conventional drain openers are dangerous chemicals. They can injure eyes on contact. They can release deadly vapors, in some situations. Some may damage your fixtures. Plumb Clean will not burn skin, or eyes. It will not release harmful fumes. When used as directed, it is 100% safe for people, and of course, all plumbing.
So, if your drains are giving you a SIGNAL, act now. Get safe, guaranteed Plumb Clean today!

Woodchips

ANTHONY MANCONI

In the 1920's my father went two nights a week to what were then known as "Americanization Classes." They were held in local schools. It prepared people who hoped to take and pass the examination to become American Citizens. My father was an avid student. He learned more about our country and its many branches of government than each of my nine brothers and sisters and I knew. I remember that we didn't know who our U.S. Senator was and he knew it was David I. Walsh.

The day he was to take the citizenship exam (although he was confident) he was understandably nervous. He answered every question the judge asked correctly without a moment's hesitation. The last question, however, almost proved to be his downfall. The judge asked about "Old Glory," our flag. My father had never heard the phrase "Old Glory" so he didn't understand the question. The judge luckily was a patient, charitable man so he asked, "Giovanni, what did you see flying over the courthouse when you came here this morning?" With eyes beaming and with a smile from ear to ear he replied, "Pigeons Your Honor!" The judge, being Irish, with a natural sense of humor, realized the tenseness of the situation and gave my father another question which was answered promptly and correctly.

The celebration when he came home was like a coronation with uncles, aunts, cousins, nephews and nieces who came to congratulate the new citizen of the United States. For the next 40 years, my father honored the oath he took by never missing the opportunity to go to the polls to vote on primary and election days. He never voted for a "name." He always knew who to vote for because he asked each candidate, "What have you done in your work, business or personal life that merits my vote?"

A politician ran into a newspaper's office and shouted to the editor, "Everything you printed about me are lies-lies-lies!" The editor calmed him down and said, "I don't see why you have anything to be upset about. It's when I print the truth about you that you would have cause to be concerned!" I told the paymaster that I was two dollars short in my pay envelope. "Indeed you are," he said as he looked at the ledger, "but look here, you were overpayed two dollars last week." "I know, but one mistake I overlook but not two in a row!"

Personality Winners - Shawn Lee, Rev. Paul Millin, Coach Al Pare and Happy Birthday, Marilyn Abelli, all of Tewksbury; Susan Sweet, Robin Lacey, Sandy Thompson, Lisa Crowley and Happy 39th Wedding Anniversary Paul and Rose Raposa, all of Wilmington; Lois Sullivan, Tom Jordan, Eleanor Stratton and Carl and Flo Nelson, all of North Reading; Fr. Tom Rourke, Officer Dave Donegan and Frank LeMoure, all of Lynnfield; Bill and Madeline Powers, Phil and his son Ralph DiNapoli, George Richards, John Austin, Bishop F. Hubert Skeets and his lovely wife Shirley and Lois Bond, all of Reading; Metro Police Captain Dan Gately and his lovely wife, Brenda and George DiStasio, all of Woburn; Police Chief William R. Soda, Lt. Alfred Scuito, Tina Braceland and Fr. Martin Ryan S.J., all of Burlington; General John Carlson, Captain Tammy Miracle, John Griffin and Glen and Renee Cunha, all of Wakefield; Patrick Duggan, Charles and Judith Bando, Matthew and Katrina Rello and James and Diane McCarthy, all of Stoneham; Michelle Fleming, Tom and Carrie Mooney, Richard Hamel and Jane Driscoll, all of Winchester; Metro Police Captain Joseph Carli (retired), Phil Consolo (a double for Caesar Romero) and Gerry Kaestner of Unigraphics, all of Saugus.

If you have trouble saying abominable, try saying it this way a-bomb-in-a-bull. My Aunt Nora just told me that I'd have no trouble at all because there's many bombs in my jokes and a lot of bull in my stories. A young man answered a "Help Wanted" ad in the Farmer's Journal. The farmer asked him what he could do on a farm. "I do everything that has to be done and I sleep when the wind blows." The farmer was surprised and puzzled, especially at the word sleep. Most farmers can tell you that sleep for them is an illusive luxury. But, because the young man looked strong and sincere, he was hired. True to his words, he did in fact fix, repair or rebuild everything - fence, corral, barn roof, etc.

One night the farmer was awakened as gale winds and a torrential rain pelted the windows. He got up and tried to wake up the hired hand (he was concerned for the cows, horses and other livestock in the barn). The hired hand could not be awakened from his sound sleep. The farmer put on his raincoat, got a battery lantern and, braving the elements, made it safely to the barn. He was pleasantly surprised to find everything peaceful and serene. The sheep were lying down, the horses and cows were in their stalls and the other livestock were sleeping. His thoughts were then on the hired hand and the words he said when he was hired, "I do everything that has to be done and I sleep when the wind blows." Folks, if we have those missing roof-shingles replaced, fix the window and doors that won't close right then, like the farmhand, we can sleep when the winds blows.

My Aunt Nora, reading this copy over my shoulder, shouted, "Chips, if brains were dynamite, you wouldn't have enough to blow your nose! Your gate needs new hinges, your garage doors are coming apart and your front stairs need new treads. The farm hand slept when the wind blew but you sleep rain or shine!" I admit it folks, she's right as rain.

I have a very smart dog. I said to him, "Kojack, what's on the top of this house?" He barked out, "ruff-ruff!" My sister, Maureen, (the original Spit Fire) sometimes just can't mind her own business. Watching a parade in Stoneham last summer, she shouted to a member of a bagpipe unit, " Hey, anything worn under those kilts?" "No," he snapped back, "everything is in 'brand new' working order," Folks, because the paper you are reading is sent to relatives and friends in many states, I have a fan of Woodchips in West Virginia. Thank you William S. Blackburn for your kind letter.

I found out that those demon credit cards make buying easier and paying harder. If Kathy used her library card the way she uses her credit cards, she'd be the most brilliant woman in America. Panhandlers hate credit cards because hardly anyone carries cash anymore. A Yankee motto, "Use it up - wear it out - make it do - or do without!" The three most beautiful things in the world - a full rigged ship, a woman with child and a full moon.

"Where were you born, Yogi Berra?" a fan asked. "Brooklyn," he replied. "What part?" Yogi smiled and said, "All of me." "Having a good doctor," Rowan Fitzgerald said, "can make you live ten years longer. However," he continued, "eight years are spent in his or her crowded waiting room." There was pro and con talk about capitol punishment down at the Woburn Elks. Bill McGarr said to me, "Chips, do you know that they don't hang a man with a long moustache in China?" "Why?" "They use a rope!"

Star of the Week - Jim Curley.

Sherman tank at Heritage Museum

The Museum of Our National Heritage will display a Sherman tank, and other military vehicles of the Korean War era, on Saturday, October 6 and Sunday, October 7. The vehicles will be on view during regular museum hours, in conjunction with the exhibit Korea: America's First Limited War.

The 35-ton Sherman tank was used by the United States Army and Marine Corps throughout the Korean War. Vehicles are presented in co-operation with the Wright Museum of Shrewsbury, Fleet Environmental Services of Taunton and the Korean War Veterans Committee of Massachusetts.

The Museum of Our National Heritage is located at 33 Marrett Road, Lexington, at the corner of Route 2A and Massachusetts Avenue. Admission and parking are free. Hours are Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday, noon to 5 p.m. For more information, call the museum at (617) 861-6559 or (617) 861-0729 (recording).

Movie Reviews

Cntd. from S-7

Stillman assumes his audience is both literate and intelligent as he delicately balances humor against the insecurities of his characters. The result is a touching and witty film. Rated PG-13.  1/2

Death Warrant is an ugly picture starring Jean-Claude Van Damme as a cop who goes undercover to root out a serial killer in a prison. The violence is gratuitous, the acting abysmal and the plot so full of holes it is practically surreal. Rated R. *

Funny About Love is a comedy/drama that never quite balances the two genres, but is surprisingly entertaining, nonetheless. Gene Wilder, in his best performance in years, plays a man who just refuses to grow up, with Christine Lahti and Mary Stuart Masterson as the women he charms. Nothing slapstick here, the subject matter is thoughtful and intelligent, but director Leonard Nimoy can't keep the dramatic scenes from dragging. Still, a noble effort. Rated PG-13.  1/2

* excellent
 good  fair
* poor

IT'S A FACT!

Nearly sixty percent of the electricity used in the United States today is generated from coal. In other words, most electricity is coal by wire.

Fortunately America is blessed with an abundance of coal. Today's technologies burn coal cleanly to produce one of our lowest-cost sources of electric power. Coal means clean, affordable and secure energy for you and future generations.

Electricity from coal. . .plug into a real bargain.

For more facts about coal, write: National Coal Association, 1130 17th Street, N.W., 8th Floor, Dept. NAPS, Washington, D.C. 20036-4677.

DO THIS FOR YOURSELF

At Private Healthcare Systems Ltd., we believe that teamwork makes your work a lot more fun and effective. That's why, in our young and growing managed-care firm,we provide a friendly and professional environment where management and staff pull together in an effort to ensure high-quality, cost-effective medical care. And while we do this for the benefit of patients, hospitals and insurance companies, joining us could be one of the best things you'll ever do for yourself. We are now offering the following opportunities:

Data Entry Clerk

You will be supporting PHCS's Case Management Department and their data entry needs. This includes entry of files into our managed-care software and entry of confidential case reports into Lotus spreadsheet files. Other responsibilities involve filing, photocopying, and collating. A typing speed of 50 wpm, previous data entry experience, and knowledge of Lotus 1-2-3 are required.

Directory Services Assistant

In support of the PHCS managed-care programs, you will set up and produce a variety of routine reports and directories. Other responsibilities may involve collating, photocopying, and answering Partner/Subscriber inquiries. This detail-oriented person must have excellent organizational and communication skills. Experience with Lotus 1-2-3 and personal computers is also required.

Receptionist/Data Entry Clerk

This individual will operate a busy Mitel Switchboard, as well as greet visitors, schedule conference rooms, screen calls and take messages. This will be a support position for our full-time Receptionist. You will also enter statistical data into Lotus 1-2-3 spreadsheet files for our Telecommunications Department. The ideal candidate must have Lotus 1-2-3 and data entry experience. Excellent communication skills and a pleasant telephone manner are also required.

Administrative Support Clerk

You will have extensive telephone contact with doctors' offices and hospitals as you answer questions regarding the status of current Medical Review cases. You will also provide light clerical support. Excellent communication skills are a must; medical terminology is preferred. Typing is not required.

Come to PHCS and you will enjoy a great salary and benefits that respond to your needs, including 3 weeks' vacation, a dependent-care savings plan, a nonsmoking office, on-site aerobics and much more. Do something great for yourself now—give us a call at (617) 861-5659, or send resume to Private Healthcare Systems Ltd., 20 Maguire Road, Lexington, MA 02173. Equal Opportunity Employer.
